Dr. Hemingway; singing by quartet; presentation of monument by Hon. Charles C. Evans, President Judge of this district; acceptance of monument by H. A. M'Killip, Esq.; address by Governor Stuart; singing; benediction. The services of dedication prior to the address of Governor Stuart were left in charge of Ent Post and the Sons of Veterans and the services as prescribed in the ritual of the order will be used.

Governor Stuart has been invited to be present, but he has given no assurance that he will accept the invitation, and it is not likely that he will accept, as this is a very busy season for him.

An invitation will also be extended to Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, but as he is eighty years of age it is quite uncertain whether he will be able to come. He was in several of the battles in which the Columbia county men participated.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

The house of Wesley Shultz in Franklin township was destroyed by fire on Sunday morning, from a defective flue in the outkitchen. The building was entirely destroyed, and most of the furniture. The loss is estimated at $3000, with small insurance.

One of the new five dollar gold pieces was exhibited at the Wednesday Club meeting yesterday, having just been received by the First National Bank.

HAVE PASSED FOUR SCORE.

There are a number of men in Bloomsburg who have passed the age of eighty years. Among them are Col. John G. Freeze, I. W. Hartman, Dr. H. C. Hower, Dr. P. H. Freeze, William Rabb, Matthias Appleman, Samuel Thomas, Silas D. Edgar, and David Brobst.

Most of these gentlemen are active and hearty and may be seen daily walking along the streets as briskly as much younger men.

There are no doubt others who belong to this class, and we shall be glad to add their names to the list of aged and honored citizens, many of whom have been important factors in making Bloomsburg what it is today.

Forty five years ago this town was only a township of about three thousand inhabitants. Main street had a sidewalk only on one side of the street. The north side had them in spots. There was not another street in the town that had a continuous sidewalk on either side of it, and what there were of them were of all sorts and grades, to suit the individual taste of the property owners.

Now, Bloomsburg is noted as one of the prettiest towns in the state, and has a population of 10,000. Great progress has been made since the incorporation of the town in 1870, and most of the venerable men named in this article have seen this development, and several of them, notably Col. Freeze and Mr. Hartman, have been active participants in much that has been done for the growth and welfare of the community.

RELIEF TAX ON COAL

Congressman McHenry and Operators and Miners to Confer Upon It.

IN AID OF THE INJURED.

It is announced by Congressman John G. McHenry, of the Sixteenth district, that one of the most important conferences in the history of the coal region will be held at Shamokin, Wednesday, November 25. The purpose will be to agree upon the form of a bill to be drafted for presentation to the coming session of State Legislature for the purpose of providing a tax to be used for the aid of injured miners and their families, as well as the families of men who lose their lives while toiling underground.

Former President John Mitchell, President Thomas Lewis and other workers, United Mine Workers' representatives, and prominent mine owners, will be in attendance.

CONGRESS REJECTED IT.

At the last session of Congress Mr. McHenry presented a bill providing for the laying of a tax of one cent a ton on all coal mined, the proceeds from this taxation to be used in caring for injured miners and their families as well as for the families of miners who were killed in the mines. He worked unceasingly to have the bill passed; but the majority leaders succeeded in having it killed.

Congressman McHenry immediately completed arrangements to have a similar bill presented to the Pennsylvania Legislature, in order that this State at least might act upon it, and that the mine workers in this State might profit by such a tax.

GETS THEM TOGETHER.

He got into communication with representatives of the mine workers and mine owners, and asked them if they would attend a conference where the provisions of the bill could be gone over and the bill made satisfactory to both sides, in order that there should be no dispute when it was presented to the Legislature.

As a result of his efforts a conference is to held, the entire matter fully discussed and a bill drawn. A number of well-known legislators will also be present to assist in framing the bill, so there will be no question as to its constitutionality.

A COMPLIMENTARY VOTE.

At the election last week Fred B. Hartman of this town received 813 votes for the office of county auditor on the Prohibition ticket. The next highest vote received by any candidate on that ticket was 415, and the lowest was 213, so that Mr. Hartman's vote was nearly double that of any other candidate on his ticket, and nearly four times as large as the lowest.

Mr. Hartman made no canvass for the office; made no announcement in any newspaper, and did not write a single letter, so that the large vote he received shows that he has many friends who voted for him regardless of politics. It was a high compliment, and a well deserved one. He has been elected to local offices on several occasions on the Prohibition ticket, and has shown always that the confidence thus reposed in him was not misplaced.

The work on the extension of North Iron street is completed.

RECENT DEATHS.

CONSISTORY MEETING.

The fall meeting of Caldwell Consistory, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, which was held last week, came to a close on Friday night with a banquet in the dining hall of the Cathedral.

H. A. McKillip Esq was the toastmaster, a position he usually occupies on similar occasions, because of his ability to fill it so well, and brief speeches were made by Frank W. Marteenis, Frederick Ulrich, Rev. J. R. Dimm, Vosburg N. Shaffer, Dr. Mack, Hon. John G. McHenry, Rev. E. R. Heckman, Rev. Stewart Mitman, Rev. W. M. Tinker, Rev. J. W. Diggles, Rev. Robt. O'Boyle, Rev. Benford, Rev. Dunville, L. T. Sharpless, Judge Kurtz, Capt. Deibler, W. K. Vastine, Mr, Gross, Mr. Dugan, Rev. Hiller, Fred W. Miller, Dr. A. W. Baker and Franklin P. Long.

The banquet was served by St. Margaret's Guild of St. Paul's Church, and it goes without saying that it was well done.

CONGRESSIONAL RETURNS.

The return judges of the Sixteenth Congressional District met Tuesday at Sunbury and computed the vote of the various candidates for Congress.

J. H. Maize was return judge for Columbia county; Horace C. Blue, for Montour county; Alphonsus Walsh, for Sullivan county, and W. K. Armstrong, for Northumberland county.

The vote was as follows:

Northumberland—Samuel, 8,575; McHenry, 9,616; Wolf, 505.

Columbia—Samuel, 2,550; McHenry, 5,976; Wolf, 283.

Montour—Samuel, 944; McHenry, 1,547; Wolf, 66.

Sullivan—Samuel, 797; McHenry, 1,273; Wolf, 116.

Samuel's total vote was 12,866, and McHenry's, 18,412, a plurality of 5.646.

To the voters of the Sixteenth Congressional District of Pennsylvania.

The official election returns having just reached me, I desire to express my gratitude to the citizens of the Sixteenth Congressional District for their general support at the polls on the third of November.

I believe that it is only fair to look upon this large majority as an expression of confidence upon the part of the people.

This I deeply appreciate and shall earnestly strive to merit.

My sole desire is to serve the people, to carry out their wishes and secure for our district intelligent representation and the recognition which is due our district in the National legislative body.

To this end I respectfully ask all good citizens, regardless of party, that they take an active interest in National affairs and feel free at all times to let me know their views on the many matters of National importance which will be brought before Congress and in which they may feel a personal interest.

I accept the position as a sacred trust and shall endeavor to render a satisfactory account of my stewardship in so far as my ability permits. In the performance of my duty, I shall always try to reflect the thoughts and wishes of the people of my district as it may be given me to understand what their wishes are.

Faithfully yours,
John G. McHenry.

The Bloomsburg Heating Co. has put a man-hole in front of the residence of J. M. Robbins on Market street. It covers a trap that connects with the sewer, and the object is to dispose of the water that accumulates in the main steam pipe.

COCAINE FORBIDDEN IN U. S. MAILS.

Government Discovered That Great Quantities Were Sold to Users.

NEGROES FORM HABIT

Pure Food Experts Are on the Track of Medicines Which Contain the Drug.—Use of This "Dope" is Said to Be a Greater Evil Than Whiskey Drinking

Washington, D. C.—Alarmed by the extent to which the cocaine habit has spread in the larger cities of the Country the Post Office Department has issued an order denying the use of the mails to cocaine or its derivatives. To do this it was found necessary to extend the provisions of Section 4 of the Postal regulations.

Government reports show that an enormous amount of cocaine is sent through the mails each year, and that this class of matter is steadily growing greater. The crusades waged against the habits in the cities have driven the "drug fiends" to seek other means of procuring the powder, and the mails have been the innocent channels through which the work of the crusaders has been rendered partially ineffective. Much of the cocaine that has passed through the mails has been in the form of so-called medicines. These "medicines will also fall under the ban.

The action of the Post Office Department was taken by authority of Congress granted at the last session, when it included a prohibition against the drug in making up the department's appropriation bill. It was said by the Post Office authorities that the order had its genesis in the attempt of certain Southern legislators to have a general order passed prohibiting the sending of intoxicating liquors into prohibition States either through the mails or by common carriers engaged in inter-State trade.

It developed that in the South the habit had fixed itself to an alarming degree on the negroes. The curse of cocaine, in fact, is said to be as great if not a greater menace to the peace of that section of the country than the liquor habit.

The difficulty faced by those who have tried to combat the evil in the cities has been the ease with which the drug has hitherto been obtained. While druggists selling the liquor without a physician's prescription have been arrested time and again and frequently convicted, there has been much more cocaine obtained by those addicted to its use than ever was purchased over the counters of drug stores.

Much of the additional supply came directly from the manufacturers to the purchasers through the mails. Being a dry substance and susceptible of packing so that its real nature was readily concealed, it lent itself to mailing.

The great increase in medicines that contain cocaine in great quantities has been a source of uneasiness to the Government. There are a great number of such "remedies" and the Bureau of Chemistry of the Agricultural Department is after them under the Pure Food Law.

The charge has been made that cocaine has even found its way into the proprietary drinks sold to the public at soda fountains. Dr. H. W. Wiley, Chief of the Buerau of Chemistry, only a short time ago, publicly denounced one such drink. He declared it contained cocaine, and because of his statements its sale at army posts and in the navy was prohibited.

Among the negroes of the cities the use of cocaine has assumed very large proportions. Government agents who have investigated the matter in conjunction with State authorities have discovered that a regularly established trade is pursued in furnishing the drug to its users.

The peddlers are to the drug business what the "boot-leggers" are to the liquor traffic. They carry their stock in trade with them and sell it in unique measure. Instead of giving their customers so many grains for a certain sum, they sell it by the "card." A customer may purchase anywhere from a "deuce" to a "ten" card of "coke," as the drug is know in the vernacular by those who use it. The peddler spreads the powder thinly over the spots on a playing card. His charge depends on the denomination of the card, and is based on the number of spots he has to cover to complete the sale.

The United States is a party to a treaty to stamp out the opium traffic, and for years agitators have insisted that the cocaine traffic should also be attacked. Whether the Government will take any further steps toward combating the transportation of the drug has not yet been considered.

An Extraordinary Condition.

A remarkable condition arose in the Muskogee (Okla.) clearing house the other day. When members of the association met to adjust their bank clearings, it was found that there was $40,000 in checks in the day's business, and that when settlement was made the accounts of each bank against all other banks balanced to a penny. No bank had to pay a cent to any other.

NO NEW MODES FOR COREANS.

They Are Likely to Rebel if the Japanese Call for Different Clothes.

It is reported that the Japanese propose to force their own style of dress upon the already rebellious Coreans. Such an attempt would probably be followed by a repetition of the serious and in some cases sanguinary results that arose a few years ago out of the Japanese attempt to force the shaving of the Corean topknot.

It seems to be one of the peculiar twists of the Japanese national character that the first yoke they would impose upon a subject people should be in the nature of sumptuary laws. Although free themselves to borrow from outside civilization and adapt to their own purposes all that they feel necessary even down to the plug hat of convention, the Japanese insist whenever they have the chance that those whom they rule shall follow their domestic customs willy nilly.

Now the Corean hates change for change's sake first, and more bitterly will he oppose change when initiated by his implacable enemy from across Tsushima straits. In the matter of his dress the Corean believes that what has been good enough for his ancestors for unnumbered hundreds of years, is good enough for him, even though doctors may explain to him that half the deaths in winter come from the ridiculously inadequate linen lawn dress that he wears.

The present Corean starched skirt and horsehair hat, shaped in the semblance of a fly screen to set on a butter dish, are just what the Chinese of the Ming dynasty used to wear about four hundred years ago. The skirt and bagged trousers of the Corean, man and woman alike, are white, winter and summer. White is the mourning color all over Mongolian territories, and a strange story is told by the Coreans themselves to account for this mourning garb.

It seems that hunoreds of years ago there was an epidemic of poisonings among the royal family. Crown princes, royal concubines and heirs of the blood were dying with unpleasant regularity.

Every time there was a death in the royal family all the subjects of the King were forced to wear the mourning color for the space of one year. The ancient Coreans grew so weary of paying forced respect to royal ghosts that they became living ghosts themselves by donning the mourning white for good and all.

That is the way this dead land of the Orient became peopled with these white spectres that now flit listlessly out of the path of the conquering Japanese, wondering in their dull way when fortune will turn and they will be rid of the little brown pest. The Coreans will probably continue to pay exorbitant taxes to their conquerors, to stand passive while their agrarian and mineral rights are taken from them; but if the men from Japan attempt to trifle with what this spiritless shadow wears on his back or on his head he will suddenly materialize into quivering militant flesh.

The Best Men.

"I can get an English coachman a place twice as quickly as a German or a Yankee coachman," said an employment agent. "Each country, I find, is supposed to turn out one kind of workman of peculiar excellence. Thus England's specialty is the stableman.

"France's specialty is the chauffeur. The cook, too, is a specialty of France.

"Scotland is noted for its engineers, and in the field of sport for its golf coaches.

"The Swiss are considered to be the best watchmakers. It is never any trouble to get a Swiss watchmaker a job.

"The Swedes are the best sailors.

"Germans are at a premium as brewery hands.

"Italians are in demand as plaster workers, a trade wherein they wonderfully excel."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Vicious California Blackbirds.

Thousands of savage blackbirds infest the city, and in some of the suburbs they are so bold that dogs are kept on the jump avoiding them, men on bicycles are sometimes chased for blocks and pedestrians pecked on the heads if they happen under trees where there are nests. The birds usually fight in pairs.

If a man with a very white hat comes along, they swoop down, beat it with their wings and claw it with the rage of wounded eagles. Frequently they aim their sharp beaks at the victim's eyes and he has difficulty in defending himself.. The painful yelping of cornered canines attracts flocks of the birds and then the fur flies.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Where Hippocrates Lectured.

The oldest tree in the world is to be found in the Isle of Cos, on the coast of Asia Minor. It is a platane, under the shade of which Hippocrates, the father of medicine, lectured to his pupils. Now as the tree at that time must have seen many years, the tree, it would seem, is considerably over 2,500 years old. The trunk has a circumference of 32½ feet and it still bears a leaf, but decay is apparent and two of the principal limbs have to be supported by brick pillars.—London Globe.

THE CARE OF LINEN

HINTS ON HOW TO PROLONG ITS USEFULNESS.

Like Everything Else It Requires a Rest Occasionally—Will Keep Longer and Look Better if this Rule is Followed.

Few housekeepers realize that all linen in constant use will keep longer if it is allowed to "rest" at times. This same principle holds good with garments and various toilet articles. Take for example the plar followed by a woman whose house linen is limited, and who likes to make it last. She has a family of three and keeps out eight sheets each week. As soiled ones come in fresh from the laundry she places them always at the bottom of the pile, so in this way the same sheet is not used two weeks in succession, but is sure of a fortnight if not three weeks' "rest." In a store closet she keeps two other piles of eight, and every two months the sets of sheets that have been in use are put into the store place, another set being put into the cupboard for weekly use. The arrangement takes very little time and it is more than worth while in the saving of linen. Pillow cases and towels she manages in the same way, only the quantity of the latter is greater. Her table linen is used for six months and then put away for a year.

Luxurious as it may sound to have such a quantity of linen, the gathering of it is inexpensive, for the woman buys a sheet or table cover occasionally and puts it away, thus keeping her store in condition. At the same time pieces wear out so slowly that there is never much loss to be made good at one time, and the pocketbook is saved accordingly.

Linen sheets like others wear first in the centre, and it repays to slit them down the middle to get the edges in the place. This is done by tearing them in two lengthwise. The selvages are then overhanded together with very fine cotton, that a big seam shall not be made, and then the raw edges are hemmed. The life of a sheet is greatly prolonged if this is done in time.

Tooth and nail bushes should always be had in sets of twos, if not threes, because bristles fall usually because of having become soft from constant wetting. Therefore if they are thoroughly dried fairly often their usefulness is prolonged.

For example, a woman who keeps two tooth brushes in use at the same time, using one every other day, will find that the two will last longer than two others would if one was worn out before beginning on the second. All tooth brushes should hang when not in use, to allow the moisture to run off.

Shoes last much longer if they are rested for a month, the leather being well oiled when put away. Underclothes like house linen, endure longer by the rotation method.

Care of the Feet.

Women do not realize the importance of changing the shoes often in caring for the welfare of the feet. Many busines women will wear the same shoes day after day, until they are thrown away, too old to wear.

Shoes, like everything else, need a rest, and if women would have at least two pairs and alternate from one to the other from day to day, the feet would be kept in much better condition and the shoes would outlast three pairs of shoes that are never changed.

Shoes need to be aired thoroughly every day, and if they are put on day after day without proper airing and drying, they will become hard and unhealthy to wear.

After a long walk it is necessary to change the shoes. The feet are tired and sore and need a change. The feet should be bathed directly after the walk in warm water and pure soap and then bathed with either alcohol or hot vinegar in the water.

It will soothe tired, aching feet, if soft slippers are put on after the heavy walking shoe. The house shoes should be soft and the heels should be lower than the walking shoe.

The Diligent Worker.

To be diligent is to be praiseworthy.

The diligent worker never hurries, and always gets satisfaction out of her work.

She never slackens pace in her labors unless there is some difficulty in her path that she is forced to surmount.

She is quick in debating a question and reaches a conclusion in a reasonable length of time.

Ever ready to facilitate her mode of working, she finds the easiest way out of difficulties and in this manner good work is noted by her superiors and she wins their highest esteem.

In line of promotion it is the diligent worker that comes first. She looked upon by her fellow-workers as a model and all pattern after her.

To be diligent is to be quite worth while.

Weigh and Measure.

Most culinary failures come from the habit of guessing. Weigh everything that is to be weighed and measure carefully all other ingredients. Do this, even if you have made the article repeatedly, and you will be spaired unpleasant surprises in spoiled dishes at important moments.

HATS OF ANCIENT TIMES.

The Panama and Oother Seemingly Modern Headgear Dates Back.

The high hat, has, in fact, a forerunner in even more ancient history. The Egyptians, clear back before the strawless brick scandal, wore a high cupola-shaped affair as a sign of royal authority. I believe the thing was queered later, says a Broadway hatter in an interview in the New York Tribune, and came to be worn by the contractors and section bosses on the royal pyramids. The Romans finished their toppers off in a point, I believe, and the priests had some sort of freak skull cap with a point like a spear-head. Things got mixed up a little in the reign of the lamented Charles the One in England, when the hoi-polloiish put on the steeple hat, high and narrow, with broad brim and no decoration, and left the aristocratic Cavaliers to wear the low, broad crowns with feathers in them, sort of a prototype of the beribboned Panama here.

Fact is, near as I can dope it out, all the wonders are lineal descendants of something that happened to our forbears brain cages. The Panama, for instance, and its poor relative, the plain straw, date back to the Century before Christ in Egypt. From there it migrated to Morocco, then to Spain, and on to these United States. Caps are almost as old as craniums. The Egyptians had 'em and so did the Greeks. The old 18th and early 19th century cocked hat, which is in imminent danger of walking the earth again soon, had a forbear in Ancient Greece.

The cap sprung direct from the turban, which itself was the only child and heir of the fillet, the Adam among hats, which was a simple band used to keep the locks of ancient man out of his eyes while he made sausage meat of his neighbor. That was before tonsorial artists had decorated the corners with striped poles and when a shampoo would have been considerd a sign of degeneracy. Some will have it though, that the wig was the original progenitor of the hat family. Anyhow, the human specimen who followed along after the cave man used to make himself beautiful by sticking flowers and feathers in his hair. Then the institution of marriage was invented and men began to lose their hair Consequently, they had to have wigs to stick the feathers in. You hear how that hats cause baldness. According to this other line of dope, baldness caused hats.

Then history did another return engagement. After old Cromwell got his in England they reverted partly to the pre-hat period, shaved their heads and put on wigs. Then they wore hats only occasionally, and that merely for show.

Pearls Are a Disease.

Pearls have been lately studied by zoologists, and their true history made known. They are a disease, caused, like so many other diseases, by an infecting parasite. They are found much as we see them in jewelry, as little lustrous spheres imbedded in the soft bodies of mussels, oysters and even some kinds of whelks, but they are not found in the shellfish like crabs and lobsters, called crustacea. Pink pearls are found in some kinds of pink-shelled whelks. A pearl-mussel or pearl-oyster has a pearly lining to its shell, which is always being laid down layer by layer by the surface of the mussel's or oyster's body, where it rests in contact with the shell, which consequently increases in thickness. If a gram of sand or a little fish gets in between the shell and the soft body of its maker, it rapidly is coated over with a layer of pearl, and so a pearly boss or lump is produced projecting on the inner face of the shell, and forming part of it. These are called "blister pearls," and are very beautiful, though of little value since they are not complete all round, but merely knobs of the general "mother-of-pearl" surface. These blister pearls can be produced artificially by introducing a hard body between the shell and the living oyster or mussel.—Weekly Telegraph.

His Old College Chums.

A conductor sent a new brakeman to put some tramps off a train; they were riding in a box-car. The brakeman dropped into the car and said, "Where are you fellows going?" "To Atchison." "Well, you can't go to Atchison on this train, so get off." "You get," came the reply, and as the new brakeman was looking into the business end of a gun he took the advice given him and "got." He went back to the caboose and the conductor asked him if he had put the fellows off. "No," he answered, "I did not have the heart to put them off. They want to go to Atchison, and, besides, they are old schoolmates of mine." The conductor used some very strong language and then said he would put them off himself. He went over to the car and met with the same experience as the brakeman. When he got back to the caboose the brakeman said, "Well, did you put them off?" "Naw, they're schoolmates of mine, too."—Wellington (Kan.) News.

Open Publicity the Best Guaranty of Merit.

When the maker of a medicine, sold through druggists for family use, takes his patients fully into his confidence by frankly and fearlessly publishing broadcast as well as on its bottle wrappers, a full list of all its ingredients in plain English, this action on his part is the best possible evidence that he is not afraid to have the search light of investigation turned full on his formula and that it will bear the most thorough investigation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of weaknesses, periodical pains and functional derangements of the organs distinctly feminine, is a medicine put up for sale through druggists for woman's special use, the maker of which takes his patients into his full confidence by open and honest publicity.

A glance at the published ingredients on each bottle wrapper will show that it is made wholly from native, American, medicinal roots, that it contains no poisonous or habit forming drugs, no narcotics and no alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol, both for extracting and preserving the active medicinal properties found in the roots of the American forest plants employed. If interested, send name and address to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his little book of extracts from the works of eminent medical writers and teachers, endorsing the several ingredients and telling just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of. It's free for the asking.

TURKISH WOMEN'S FACES BARE NOW.

Veil Commanded by Koran Thrown Aside by Many Thousands of Women in Turkey.

Berlin, Germany.—Urged on by men actively promoting the political upheaval in the Ottoman empire, hundreds of thousands of Turkish women, despatches received here relate, have torn off the traditions veil commanded by the Koran and to-day are showing themselves triumphantly in the streets with entirely uncovered faces. All the women apparently are delighted with the new-found freedom, which originated in Monastir, the cradle of the recent revolution, and was caused by the proclamation of a Moslem priest from the mosque canceling the Koran's commandment.

THE SULTAN OF TURKEY.

"We will help to make the world beautiful by this act," the priest declared in the midst of scenes of wild jubilation at the startling innovation, which everywhere was greeted with strong approval.

This change—the most amazing feature of the rebellion and probably unequaled for its radicalism in Turkish history—was attended by the gathering of vast crowds of curious men in the principle thoroughfares of every town, who cheered loudly every unveiled woman. Everywhere are heard expressions of praise for the relief from the monony of the dark, ugly covering which has hidden the now smiling faces of the Turkish women from the world.

The Ottoman Empire seems shaken to the core and utterly renovated by the new order of affairs, and that mystery formerly surrounding Turkish womankind has vanished. It is believed a daring reformer soon will attempt the introduction of European clothes, instead of the baggy trousers for the liberated women, and a general belief exists this move, too, would be received with acclaim by the many new-idea Turks.

PLANTS HAVE INTELLIGENCE.

Darwin to Assert Old Thesis at His Father's Jubilee.

London.—Francis Darwin president of the British Association meeting on the occasion of the jubilee of his father's announcement of his famous theories, reiterates in his inaugural address the contention that plants are endowed with intelligence, for which he was criticised by conscientists years ago.

Darwin illustrates his theory chiefly by climbing plants to the influence of light, deducting therefrom that plants have memory and so develop habits. He will particularly describe the hop and bryony plants, showing that their intelligence and memroy are hardly less than those of the lowest animals.

200,000,000 FEET OF RAIN.

Census Taker of Natural Resources Talks on Annual Downfall.

Washington, D. C.—Just about 200,000,000 cubic feet of water falls from the heavens annually throughout this country," said Dr. W. J. Magee, Chief of the Bureau of Soils, and one of the men who are making census of the natural resources of this country.

"If water can be used once for power, then for irrigation, again for power, and later as a highway it will have served its purpose well," he said. "It is the essence of the whole work of water conservation and utilization now in progress.

"The census of natural resources is expected to develop a vast fund of information and to show in a concrete and emphatic way the value of elements of which little account is taken. It will be the basis from which scientific work will be carried forward, designed to show how best to utilize all the resources."

Power of Water.

Water, looked upon as the tamest of liquids, is as great an explosive as dynamite under certain conditions. In one day water breaks up more earth and rock than all the gunpowder, guncotton and dynamite in the world do in a year.

WORRY CAUSE OF INSANITY.

Meditating on Trouble the Cause of Mental Derangement.

Medical experts agree that worry, in its numerous phases, is the chief cause of insanity.

"I notice that in the official returns of the commissioners in lunacy intemperance is credited with being responsible for the largest number of insane persons," said a specialist. "We must bear in mind that all the cases resulting from intemperance are classed under one head, and figures amounting to 3,338 placed under it. The cases which might justifiably be classed as 'worry' are, on the other hand, divided up into sections. Put them all together and the following is the result:

Domestic trouble	1,318
Mental anxiety and overwork ..	1,192
Adverse circumstances	1,025
Love affairs	258
Privation and starvation	202
Total	3,995

"These figures bear out in a striking manner the advice, 'Don't Worry,' which the medical faculty is constantly enforcing upon 90 per cent. of its patients. Worry is the inveterate foe of all doctors, and the worst of it is that it is generally without cause.

"It is a great mistake, when any trouble arises, to get into a flutter, wonder what the end will be, and reproach oneself for not performing a certain thing or other which would have prevented it. Yet that is what thousands do.

"Surely, the only rational attitude is to look at the thing dispassionately—as it is, not as it might be—consider how far it has gone, and then sit down quietly to think of some way first to arrest the danger, and then to repair the damage.

"The pace at which we live and the keenness of commercial competition are all against this. People become excited, which leads to a frenzy of worry. They then find themselves in the doctor's hands, or, worse still, often in the lunatic asylum, as the report printed yesterday proves so eloquently."—London Express.

BEGGARS' UNION.

French Organization for Protection Against Pretenders.

Not long ago an Austrian association of dancing masters sought redress at the hands of the law for the infringement of their prerogative by an unfortunate doctor of medicine who had found it impossible to make a living by the practice of his own profession. But the most remarkable trade union of which we have heard is one in the south of France formed by beggars for the suppression of unqualified practice.

A meeting of street singers and of the lame, the halt and the blind who extract voluntary contributions from the charitable public was held at Marseilles, a one legged man being in the chair, for the purpose of organizing themselves into a body strong enough to resist the encroachments of pretenders. The association was duly constituted, with statutes and bylaws. It was decided that only French subjects with genuine malformations or sores could be admitted to membership.

Compliance with this condition may not be altogether easy to enforce, for the imitation of diseases is a fine art. Readers of the life of Ambroise Pare may remember that when he was still a barber's apprentice he won some reputation in his native town by the exposure of a beggar who used to stand at the door of the parish church exposing to the pity of the faithful a frightful fungating tumor of the arm which proved to be a piece of decomposed mutton. Since the foundation of the association two one legged men—named, we learn from the Journal des Dedats, Roisin and Carlier—have started on a mission, delivering addresses wherever they go, warning the public against impostors.

The headquarters of the association are to be in Paris, and the organization will be under the direction of one Doussineau, who though he walks on crutches is said to be a man of devouring activity, going up and down beating up recruits. Some difficulty seems to have arisen in regard to contributions, many of the members preferring to keep their earnings to themselves. A feeling of uneasiness seems also to exist lest the list of members should find its way into undesirable hands.

Longevity of Germs.

Some interesting observations on the ever-important subject of the vitality of disease germs is made by Dr. Migal, of the Berlin University Medical School. Some ten years ago he took some earth from one of the public parks of that city at a depth of ten inches below the turf. This he dried for two days at a temperature of 30 degrees Centigrade, and then, by placing the dust in a hermetically sealed tube, which he put aside in a dark corner of the laboratory.

When taken, the soil contained an average of six and one-half million bacteria per gramme. After desiccation the number had fallen to rather less than four million. Today, ten years later, he still found three million per gramme, and he was able to isolate the specific microbe of tetanus. The inoculation of this soil in guinea pigs determined death from tetanus, after an incubation period of two days, showing the remarkable vitality of pathogenic microbes under favorable conditions.

SOURCE OF HEALTH.

Fresh Interests for Your Mind and Fresh Air for Young Lungs is the Secret.

A lady who has been considered a semi-invalid all her life tells me she is robust, strong and well, the cure caused by her automobile.

There are two explanations for this result. One is the fresh air she has taken into her lungs, the other the fresh interest taken into her mind.

It is only when the mind falls asleep or in a torpor and leaves the door unguarded that disease creeps in and attacks the fortress of the body.

The woman who is enthused with the excitement of her automobile exercise, and who looks forward to her daily spin with animation, has little room in her mind for worry about the weak organs in her body.

The bicycle craze cured thousands of complaining women of imaginary ills and hundreds of ailments which have become realities.

A man crippled with rheumatic pains for years, thrown from a carriage into a winter river, extricated himself and walked a mile to shelter and was free from rheumatism afterward.

All ailing women cannot be provided with automobiles, but all can make daily demands to the great source of health, joy, usefulness, action, love and power for these qualities, and those who ask shall receive. —Ella Wheeler Wilcox in Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Stimulating the Scalp.

The massage of the scalp is at the root of all treatment of the hair. By stimulating the flow of blood to the scalp new vigor is given to the hair. Without this massage hair restoratives are of little avail. Now, this massage may be better done by a masseur than by the person who is growing bald, but it is possible for that individual to massage his own scalp well enough to do the hair a great deal of good. The hands should be half folded and the ends of the fingers made to touch the scalp lightly. Then rub them slowly over the scalp. It is convenient to begin at the back of the neck and rub the scalp slowly up the center of the head to the forehead. Then the rubbing should be done all over the head from one side of the scalp to the other. It should be repeated several times. The same glow that the expensive fingers of the masseur produce follows, showing that the circulation in the scalp has been stimulated. The fingers should be pressed on the scalp with sufficient force to cause the blood to tingle.

London's Kilted Lady.

The new woman, attired in the latest development of her idea of rational dress, has invaded the city.

The New Woman in Kilts.

A stoutly built lady was seen walking jauntily down New Bridge street, apparently quite unconscious or indifferent to the amusement that her appearance caused to the passers by.

Her costume consisted of a dark blue coat and skirt—or, rather, kilt—which reached to just above the knees, disclosing beneath a neat pair of knickerbockers of the same material. A pair of thick, black woolen stockings and low shoes completed her attire.—London Mirror.

To Break Up a Cold.

The following is said to cure a cold in the head: In the morning after rising and at night before retiring wash the feet and legs as high up as the knees in cold water; then rub them with a rough towel and massage them till the skin is red and glowing. In addition to this cautiously snuff tepid water up the nose frequently during the day and sip with a teaspoonful a glassful as hot as can be borne an hour before each meal and at bedtime. A few days is often quite sufficient for simple cases and obstinate ones yield if the treatment is prolonged. No medicines are required. If taken in the first stages of the disease a cold is broken up which might otherwise become a severe case of bronchitis, lasting many days or weeks.

Women as Jewelers.

It is remarkable that more women do not take up the jewelry business when searching for a trade. A woman can cater to woman's tastes, and with an apprenticeship under a good firm should be capable of starting in for herself. An Englishwoman has taken up the work and is successful in resetting stones and also has acquired the unusual art of painting precious stones. This is delightful work for a woman, though rather trying to the eyes.

STOMACH LIVER LUNGS

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

THE CAPTAIN'S STORY.

How Dried Apples Saved the Ship From Foundering.

"In the language of the land lubber, this may be going some," said William Watt, chief officer of the steamship Strathclyde, "but it's a fact that dried apples saved a ship once. At any rate, it wasn't the Italians who commanded the steamer nor the Italians who were in the crew, and I'm willing to be modest and claim no part in the saving myself, leaving it to the dried apples to get the Carnegie hero medal or the Nobel prize.

"It was this way. While in a Mediterranean port I was asked to take a post on an Italian steamer, the name of which I shan't mention, for there is no use in rubbing it in. Some of the officers may still be on her, and I wouldn't hurt their feelings. It isn't professional. There was one of the Italian officers missing—too much Chianti or something of that sort—and as I was disengaged for the time being, they got me as second for the voyage from Patras to Marseilles. There another Neapolitan was to take the job and I was to quit the ship in the French port.

"On the Mediterranean the captain commandante and the first officer ran the vessel on a rock in clear weather. As there were about seven hundred passengers aboard you can imagine what an uproar there was when the steamer began to scrape and came to a stop with a jerk.

"Instead of waiting to see what had been done they, the commandante and his chief aid, backed the steamer off the rock and she at once began to show an inclination to take in all of the Mediterranean that could pour hrough a ragged hole slightly forward of amidships in the starboard side below the water line.

"The commandante and his first officer were for taking to the boats right away, although there were only a dozen boats capable of holding about half the persons who were on board, counting passengers and crew.

"Seeing me go below and hearing my announcement that I would see how big the hole was, seemed to shame the Italian commandante somewhat, for he halted the evacuation programme long enough to see me disappear below deck and make my way toward the freight hold.

"Not a soul on that ship knew what to do or thought of doing it if he knew, and the passengers were on the point of falling into a panic.

CAULKING WITH DRIED APPLES.

Then the apples came in. I found that the hole was large but ragged and that some bags of apples stuffed into the aperture would undoubtedly rid the ship of water by aid of the pumps

"After a lot of trouble I got a few of the sailors to help me while the Italian commandante and his first officer, the chief engineer and the other Italian officers stood by at the life boats, ready for a quick getaway.

"We stuffed dried apples into that hole in the side until we all got the cramps. As the dried apples began to swell the water diminished and finally we found that no more water was coming in. We kept piling in the bags of dried apples until all that section of the hole was full of the dried fruit.

"Then the pumps were set working and all speed was made for the nearest Italian port. By crowding on all steam we got there on record time. Amid the cheering of the populace and the blowing of whistles over our timely arrival a thunderous creaking was heard on deck.

"As the steamer tied up to the pier the starboard rail and the deck parted company. The dried apples had swelled s that they had burst the ship. The old Italian tub opened up like a morning glory in full bloom, but every soul aboard had been landed safely and the dried apples were undisputably the heroes of a near catastrophe."

ARTIFICIAL HONEY.

Inverted Sugar—Better Than Some Kinds of Bees Honey.

Prof. Herzfield of Germany recently brought out some interesting points regarding the manufacture of artificial honey in Europe. It is noticed that when we bring about the inversion of refined sugar in an almost complete manner and under well-determind conditions, this sugar solidifys in the same way as natural honey, after standing for a long time and it can be easily redissolved by heating it. Owing to the increased reproduction of artificial honey, the bee cultivators have been agitating the question so as to protect themselves, and it is proposed to secure legislation to this effect, one point being to oblige the manufacturers to add some kind of product, which will indicate the artificial product. On the other hand, it is found that the addition of inverted sugar to natural honey tends to improve its quality, and especially to render it more easily digested. Seeing that sugar is about the only alimentary matter which is produced in an absolutely pure state, its addition to honey cannot be strictly considered as an adulteration. Bees often take products from flowers which have a bad taste; and the chemist Keller found that honey coming from the chestnut tree sometimes has a disagreeable flavor.

From wheat flowers we find a honey which has a taste which resembles bitter almonds, and honey from asparagus flowers is most unpalatable. Honey taken from the colza plant is of an oily nature, and that taken from onions has the taste of the latter. In such cases the honey is much improved by the addition of inverted sugar. Prof. Herzfeld gives a practical method of preparing this form of sugar: We take 1 kilogram (2.2 pounds) of high quality refined sugar in a clean enamel-ware vessel, and add 300 cubic centimetres' (10 fluid ounces) of water and 1.1 grammes (17 grains) tartaric acid. This is heated at 110 deg. C. over an open fire, stirring all the while, and is kept at this heat until the liquid takes on a fine golden yellow color, such operation lasting for about three-quarters of an hour. By this very simple process we can easily produce artificial honey. Numerous extracts are now on the market for giving the aroma of honey. However, if we take the artificial product made as above and add to it a natural honey having a strong aroma, such as that which is produced from heath, we can obtain an excellent semi-honey.—Scientific American.

BRYAN'S STATEMENT

Confident That Something Has Been Accomplished Through His Efforts.

"LED AS BEST I COULD."

In the presence of his third defeat for the Presidency William Jennings Bryan evinces a spirit of serene acquiescence in the people's will and of comforting reflection that he has at least done some good in compelling the Republican party and the national Government to adopt in part or entirely many of the policies he has advocated. He believes that he will be remembered for having had much to do with the destruction of corruption in politics and with the advancement of the cause of the common people as against the favored few. He declares emphatically that he feels no sense of personal disappointment and no regret. He issued the following statement last Thursday.

"The election has gone against us by a decisive majority. The returns are not all in, and it is impossible at the present time to analyze them or to say what causes contributed most to the Republican victory. We made our fight upon a platform which embodied what we believed to be good for the American people, but it is for the people themselves to decide what laws they desire and what methods of government they prefer.

"I have faith that the publicity which we asked for will yet commend itself to the American people, that the election of Senators by the people will be secured, that the iniquities of the Trusts will arouse an opposition that will result in the elimination of the principle of private monopoly.

"I am confident that the people will see the necessity for the labor legislation and the tariff reduction which our platform demanded. I am confident, too, that the educational work done in this campaign will result in securing greater protection to bank depositors The above are the most prominent reforms for which we labored, and I believe that these reforms will yet come together with more effective regulation of railroads and independence for the Filipinos.

LED AS BEST HE COULD.

"I desire to commend the work of our National Committee. I am entirely satisfied with Mr. Mack as the chairman and with the members of the committee. I do not see what they could have done more than they did, and as for myself, I put forth every effort in my power to secure victory for our cause. The nomination came from the hands of the voters, I have obeyed their command and have led as best I could.

"Words will not express my gratitude for the devotion which has been shown by millions of Democrats during the past 12 years. Neither am I able to adequately express my appreciation for the kind words which have been spoken since the election. If I could regard the defeat as purely a personal one. I would consider it a blessing rather than a misfortune, for I am relieved of the burdens and responsibilities of an office that is attractive only in proportion as it gives an opportunity to render a larger public service. But I shall serve as willingly in a private capacity as in a public one. God does not require great things of us, He only requires that we improve the opportunities that are presented, and I shall be glad to improve the opportunities for service presented by private life.

COMFORTED BY NEBRASKA.

"In this hour of national defeat I find some consolation in the cordial support given by my neighbors, by the citizens of Lincoln and by the people of the State of Nebraska With a Democratic Legislature we shall be able to put into practice so much of the Denver platform as relates to State legislation, and I trust that our State will set an example that will be an influence for good in the nation."

How Electoral Vote is Counted.

There will be an elaborate procedure in the case of the men elected on the electoral ticket in Pennsylvania. The Prothonotaries of each county will send the returns to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, who in turn delivers them to the Governor. It is the duty of the latter official to enumerate the vote of the State, declare the result, notify the electors of their election on or before the last Wednesday in November, and communicate the result to the Secretary of State of the United States. The electors meet in Harrisburg on the second Monday in January following their election, and cast their votes for President and Vice President of the United States. Certificates of this vote are made in triplicate, one sent by messenger, selected by the electors themselves, to the President of the Senate of the United States at Washington, a second is sent through the mails to the same official, and the third is delivered to the Judge of the district in which they assemble. These returns are opened in the presence of Congress on the second Wednesday in February and the result declared by that body in a joint session held for that express purpose.

Elk County Unanimous.

Local politics in Elk county are of the unanimous order. In the tabulated vote of the county, published in the Ridgway Democrat, under the head of Assembly the tabulation is as follows:

John M. Flynn, Republican -	2200
John M. Flynn, Democrat -	2500
John M. Flynn, Prohibition, -	185
There was no other candidate. For Prothonotary the count stood:
A. M. Ent, Republican, -	2261
A. M. Ent, Democrat, - -	2461
For County Treasurer:
Andrew Hau, Republican, -	2415
Andrew Hau, Democrat, - -	2276

A. M. Ent is a Columbia county boy, a son of the late Sheriff Uzal Ent. He has held the office of Prothonotary of Elk county several terms in succession.

Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, looks like a rising sun. A Democrat who can carry his State three times in succession in the face of a normal Republican majority of 100,000 is marked for a man of destiny. Perhaps he will be the Moses that will lead the agricultural constituencies of the Northwest out of the wilderness of Protectionistic and Trust-breeding Republicanism in which they have been blindly wandering for nearly forty years. In any event, Governor Johnson is well worth keeping an eye on.—Record.

RURAL IMPROVEMENT.

Superintendent W. W. Evans has issued a circular on the subject of Rural improvement, which is, in part, as follows. He says:

There is perhaps no subject in which educators and thoughtful people generally are so deeply interested as the study of means for the improvement of rural conditions. An era of wonderful development in all that pertains to the life and vocation of country people is just dawning. Since the movement concerns the rising generation chiefly, it has a valid place in our public schools, and we are impelled to take the initiative in encouraging every means of genuine and practical value to our country people.

With this end in view, we have secured the co-operation of the Division of Zoology of our State Department of Agriculture. Prof. H. A. Surface has done us a great service through his bulletins, in arousing an interest in the various diseases which infect our crops; he has now consented to give at each of our rural high schools a practical demonstration of ways and means for combating the same. Prof. A. Woodward Stephens, a graduate in the Agriculture course of Cornell University, and an experienced inspector of orchards, has been detailed to spend two days in each of these high schools. We are thus fortunate in being the first county in the state to receive the services of so valuable a man for so long a time—thirty-seven days in all.

SCHEDULE.

We have gone over the entire matter with him and have arranged the following schedule:

November 9 and 10, Sugarloaf, in charge of A. S. Fritz.

November 11 and 12, Benton, in charge of E. E Beare.

November 13 and 16, Stillwater, in charge of Laura Essick.

November 17 and 18, Fishing creek, in charge of Samuel Seasholtz.

November 19 and 20, Orangeville, in charge of Ernest Merrill.

On Saturday, November 21, Mr. Stephens will address the County Teachers' Association on "A Neglected Industry in Columbia County."

November 23 and 24, Hemlock, in charge of Derl Hess.

December 7 and 8, Madison, in charge of J. H. Gaskins.

December 9 and 10, Millville, in charge of J. E. Shambach.

December 23 and 24, Greenwood, in charge of C. I. Parker.

December 28 and 29, Mt. Pleasant, in charge of M D. Mordan.

December 30 to January 2, second annual excursion from Columbia County to Farmers' Week at State College.

January 4 and 5, Scott, in charge of Bruce Albert.

January 6 and 7, Centre, in charge of John Harris.

January 8 and 11, Briarcreek, in charge of Elbert Roberts.

January 12 and 13, Mifflin, in charge of Daniel J. Snyder.

January 14 and 15, Beaver, in charge of Geo. M. Lehman.

January 25 and 26, Main, in charge of Mabel Welsh.

January 27 and 28, Roaringcreek in charge of Charles Maurer.

January 29 and 30, Locust, in charge of Edwin M. Lazarus.

SUGGESTED PROGRAM.

I. A brief talk in the school room on
  (a) Some common insects which injure crops and how to combat them.
  (b) Pruning and caring for an orchard.

II. A practical field demonstration in nearby orchard.
  (a) Shaping a young tree and pruning an old one.
  (b) Spraying.
    1. If scale is present, prepare and apply lime-sulphur mixture to a sufficient number of trees to show that scale can be controlled.
    2. If there is no scale, show materials and equipment; explain method of preparing, mixing and application.

The person in charge should arrange the school program to give the demonstrator one hour during the morning and afternoon sessions each day. Since he is a stranger, the teacher will be expected to find board and lodging for him and his horse. There will be no charge for the materials or service, but it is customary to ask that the demonstrator and his horse be cared for without cost to him.

The farmers in each community are invited to attend all the sessions in the school as well as the actual demonstrations.

This is a splendid opportunity and will no doubt be grasped by those who desire to make farming pay, while the educational profit derived by the teachers and pupils of our high schools will undoubtedly prove even more valuable.

Appropriation for Game.

In his annual report to the State Game Commission, Secretary J. C. Kalbfus, recommends a State appropriation for the re-stocking of the state with game. He declares that hunting makes real men and that the Americans repelled the British in two wars because they were largely a nation of hunters and that sport in the woods today is a valuable training which is being interfered with because of the growing scarcity of game. Dr. Kalbfus recommends an appropriation of $25,000 be made by the next legislature, in addition to the regular appropriation to the commission, for the purpose of buying game to restock.

Dr. Kalbfus also recommends that the game season be shortened in order to conserve the game that remains. He says that the necessity for this action is apparent and that he has the advice of hunters and sportsmen that the open season should not begin until after November 1. Now part of the season opens in October, which is generally a dry month and that animals seeking for water are an easy prey to hunters who watch the streams.

Recommendations are also made for the increase of the State police who have been assisting the game commission in enforcement of game laws and for the passage of a bill to prohibit unnaturalized persons to carry arms

Lincoln Memorial Proposed.

Congressman D. F. Lafean, of York, announces that he will introduce at the next session of the house a bill providing for the construction of a magnificent roadway reaching from Washington to the battlefield at Gettysburg.

The road will cost the government $7,000,000, and it is proposed to make it a national memorial to Abraham Lincoln, in celebration of his one hundredth birthday anniversary. Mr. Lafean says the proposed boulevarde meets with the approval of President Roosevelt, the Lincoln Memorial Association and scores of congressmen.

Mines Go Dry and Stop Again.

Nine Thousand Workers Thrown Out for Lack of Water.

The Lehigh Valley collieries Nos 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, Susquehanna Coal Company, William Penn and North American and McTurk's washeries at Shenandoah have been compelled to suspend all operations again owing to the scarcity of water, again throwing about 9000 men and boys out of employment.

Unless it rains very soon a number of other collieries and washeries will be compelled to suspend this week.

Ex-Senator Edward W. Carmack of Tennessee, was shot and killed at Nashville, by the son of Col. Duncan C. Cooper. The trouble grew out of politics, Carmack being an editor whose paper had bitterly attacked Cooper. Both men fired at each other, Carmack being instantly killed, and Cooper wounded in the shoulder. The two Coopers are in jail.

If present plans are carried out, Elisha Root will succeed Thos. C. Platt as United States Senator for New York. The country will probably survive the loss of Platt in the Senate.

Tariff revision is now promised by the dominant party. They do not say, however, whether they will revise it up or down.

Physicians Advised to Take It Up in Their Practice.

In a lecture before the Chicago College of Medicine, Dr. A. R. Hagle explained a cure for "love sickness." This occasionally cures an old love complaint."

Acres of Campaign Print.

Uncle Sam Paid Postal Bills for 400,000 Pounds.

The Government Printing Office was an important factor in the recent Presidential campaign. This institution turned out for the Republican and Democratic parties 7,418,700 copies of speeches delivered in Congress, surpassing all previous records by 3,000,000 copies. The total weight of campaign speeches printed since the beginning of the Sixtieth Congress exceeds 400,000 pounds, or about 14 carloads. The printed sheets would completely cover 45 square acres of ground and if each page could be laid end to end a bicycle track 947 miles long could be obtained.

The number of words contained in this year's run of speeches has been roughly estimated at 230 billion. With the newspaper calculation of four readers to each copy, this would require the assimilation of nearly a trillion words.

The printing of speeches in the Government Printing Office for members of the Senate and House of Representatives has been reduced to an exact science through years of experience. The printing is paid for by the member of Congress drawing the requisition, but the mailing is done by frank, at public expense.

Decorate for Dedication Day.

Thursday, November 19th, the day of the dedication of the monument, will no doubt be a general holiday in Bloomsburg. There will be many strangers here, and the town should be in gala attire in honor of the occasion.

It will be very pleasing to the veterans to see the business places and dwellings appropriately decorated on that day in their honor, and to visitors to our town it will go to maintain the reputation which we have abroad, that we are not lacking either in enterprise or patriotism. Hang out the flags!

New Amusement Hall at Danville.

Achenbach and Moore, of this town, who for several years past have successfully catered to the pleasure-seeking public in various places, have transformed the bowling alley building on Mahoning street, Danville, into an amusement hall known as the New Family Theatre.

For several weeks the old bowling alley structure has been undergoing extensive alterations, which included the installation of a complete miniature theatre with an elevated stage, scenery, imitation boxes, foot lights, a sloping floor and all the accessories. The building has a capacity of about 300 people.

The opening took place last night. Mr. Stonesifer, formerly with the Bijou here, has been engaged to sing the illustrated songs. Prof. Chas. P. Elwell presides at the piano.

It is the intention of the managers to give a vaudeville program in connection with the moving pictures later on.

A New Gold Piece.

The mints at Philadelphia, San Francisco and Denver have begun coining a new five dollar gold piece struck on a different plan from any heretofore coined in the world. It follows an idea expressed to President Roosevelt by Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow, of Boston, that to permit the coins being piled to a uniform height that a high or strong relief might be obtained by depressing the design below the field or face of the coin, instead of raising it above as usual in all coinage operations. This would provide a flat field and a uniform thickness, the flat surface taking the wear and protecting the relief, the shape of the depression following the outline of the relief. The same design will be used on the two and a half dollar pieces, and will bear the "In God We Trust" motto. While never applied to coins, the counter sinking relief is one of the oldest forms of sculpture in stone.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

Last Sunday's number of the Lutheran, the little paper published weekly by the Lutheran church of this town, Rev. J. E. Byers, editor, contained the following item among other good things.

It is equally as applicable to parents in every other church as in the Lutheran. It says:

"Parents, did it ever occur to you to thank those who teach your children in the Sunday School? Do you ever stop to think how much is being done for your children by faithful teachers who never think of pay? It is something to think about and to be thankful for. Where outside of the church would you find anything of the kind? You ought to show your appreciation by sending your children regularly, and in good time.

You ought to speak well of the teacher, not criticise before your children. And certainly you ought to respond to the few calls which the school makes in the way of offerings. I tell you, parents, you are getting a whole lot in the Sunday School for almost nothing. You ought to appreciate it and likewise those who teach and direct in it, much more than you do."

HERE AND THERE.

Chas. M. Hall, a prominent attorney of Towanda, who was the Democratic candidate for the office of prothonotary in Bradford Co., dropped dead Monday week while caring for the furnace at his home. He was a robust man and was apparently in the best of health. Early Monday morning he descended to the cellar of his residence to fix the furnace, and while there was stricken with heart failure, death occurring instantly. The ballots bearing his name as a candidate, had been distributed and it was impossible to change the ticket.

For confining two squirrels in cages as pets, thereby unwittingly violating the game law of 1905, J. Fenstermacher was obliged to pay $20 fine and costs to Justice Cope on a charge brought by Henry S. Reichard, of South Bethlehem, special deputy game protector, who found the squirrels in the possession of the accused, who admitted the charge. The act of 1905 imposes but one penalty, $10 for each squirrel caged or killed out of season.

Residents of Hazleton are much perturbed because of the brutal action of some persons unknown, who have been visiting the rabbit hutches of pet stock owners of that city during the past week. The brutes have in each instance killed the pet rabbits, cut off their legs and ears and then thrown the dead bodies back into the pens.

Rare Surgical Operation.

Doctor Relieved Pressure on Optic Nerve and Restored Sight.

By a most unusual operation performed by Dr. J. Thornton Schell at Philadelphia, the eyesight of J. H. Carter, who was almost totally blind, has been restored. Carter was taken to the hospital a fortnight ago suffering with total loss of vision in one eye and could barely detect beams of light in the other.

Diagnosing the case as one of undue pressure upon the optic nerve, Dr. Schell took a bold step which has but few parallels in surgical literature. He first exposed the brain by removing two large buttons of bone from the base of the skull, and then a quantity of cerebro-spinal fluid was withdrawn. This relieved the pressure on the optic nerve, with the concurrent result that vision was restored to both eyes. There is said to be no similar case on record.

Well-Kept Hands.

Two bottles should be kept in a handy place in the kitchen, one containing five parts of lemon juice to one of alcohol, the other one-fourth ounce of gum tragacanth added to a pint of rain-water which has stood three days, then one ounce each of alcohol, glycerine and witch hazel, also a very little good perfume. After washing dishes, preparing vegetables or doing any rough kitchen work, apply a little of the lemon juice, then the other lotion, and in a moment the hands are dry, soft and very smooth. All stains disappear quickly and the nails are cleaned easily, says The Housekeeper. This process repeated a few times each day will repay any housekeeper for the slight trouble. The expense of these preparations is comparatively nothing.

Self-appointed critics know noth

Gained Flesh on Peruna.

Mrs. Hattie Hamilton, R. F. D. No. 2, Sparta, Ky., writes:

"I have taken two bottles of Peruna and commenced on the third one. I did not really need the third one, but thought it best to take another bottle.

"I have always weighed 102 pounds, but since I began taking Peruna I weigh 120, for the first time in all my life, and I am now thirty-three years old. Your medicine has surely done me a great deal of good, and I have recommended it to several others who have begun taking it.

Internal Catarrh.

Mrs. M. F. Jones, of Burning Springs, Ky., writes:

"No family should ever be without Peruna, for it is an unfailing cure for colds, and it is an excellent remedy to prevent and relieve croup.

"And to speak from a standpoint of experience, I can candidly say that it is the remedy for internal catarrh. I shall not hesitate to recommend it, especially to all suffering women.

"Peruna has gained full confidence and a permanent stay in our home."

Constipation, Torpid Liver.

Mrs. Anthony Rauch, 306 N. Walnut street, Bucyrus, O., writes:

"I was suffering from obstinate constipation and torpid liver, when I took your advice and purchased six bottles of Peruna and Manalin. When I had taken only one bottle I felt much better, and since I have taken two more bottles I feel entirely well, but I will continue taking the medicine for a short time to make sure of my cure.

"I think Manalin is one of the finest remedies for constipation that I ever tried. I will never be without it. It has made me so strong. I can do a day's work and never tire. I am so glad I do not get those dizzy spells any more. I haven't had one since I took your medicine.

"I cannot thank you enough for what your medicine has done for me. All sick people should give it a fair trial."

Kidneys and Bladder.

Mrs. Gus. H. Carlson, Box 201, Ortonville, Minn., writes:

"I had catarrh of the kidneys and bladder. I have taken Peruna until now, and I do not think I need to take it any longer.

"A friend of mine advised me to tr
Peruna and I did so. After I had take two bottles I found it was helping me,
so I continued its use, and it has cure
me sound and well.

"I can recommend Peruna to anyone,
and if anyone wants to know what
Peruna did for me if they will write to me I will answer promptly."

Hearst, the "Dead One."

Mr. Hearst is now definitely deprived of his martyr's crown, for which he has substituted a fool's cap. He cannot even claim to have defeated Bryan and Chanler; for the little fringe of votes which his personally conducted Independence party cast was absolutely negligible in the large result. This is a terrible blow not only to an impudent charlatan, but to all his boasting about the irresistible political power of his newspapers. He, and his hirelings have talked as if, when The Journal spoke, 5,000,000 readers said amen, and 1,000,000 voters rushed to record their approval at the polls. That humbug is now exploded. When even the most blatant journalism sets itself against the popular stream, it is swept away with other rotten vegetables. The true comment on Hearst's further political pretensions can best be conveyed to him in language of the kind he uses, and which has been heard within the past few weeks from hundreds of his former followers: "Hearst? Aw, he's a dead one."

STANDARD OIL WINS; GOVERNMENT LOSES

Circuit Court of Appeals Denies Motion for Rehearing on $29,000,000 Penalty.

CASE TO BE CARRIED HIGHER

Court Attacks Attitude of Trial Judge and Procedure of Federal Attorneys.—To Be Decided by Tribunal of Last Resort.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals reaffirmed its own decision exculpating the Standard Oil Company from paying a $29,240,000 fine for rebating.

The opinion, written this time by Judge Baker, denies the Government a rehearing on its appeal from the verdict of the same court on July 22 last, when Judge Grosscup put forth the decision, based on technicality of the law, that the company was not guilty.

The next day President Roosevelt said of the verdict: "There is absolutely no question of the guilt of the defendants, and the President would regard it as a gross miscarriage of justice if, through any technicality * * * the defendant escaped punishment, which would unquestionably have been meted out to any weaker defendant who had been guilty of such an offense."

Though the Government side in the controversy has so far failed to comment upon the decision against it, the understanding is that the President and Attorney General, will force the case from the court, where it has now had two trials into the Supreme Court, of the United States, and that the final trial will be pressed immediately after the Supreme Court reconvenes, December 1.

In Judge Grosscup's original decision, upon which the President commented, it was declared that Judge Landis, in imposing the $29,240,000 fine, had used evidence adduced against only the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, upon which to base his conviction of the Standard Oil Company, of New Jersey.

This decision is reaffirmed, as is the protested Grosscup ultimatum that Judge Landis erred, when he based fine on car lots of rebated freight, instead of on train loads of shipments in the whole.

The court takes all the Government officers concerned in the case to task for having introduced "an ignorance of the law," into their plea.

The Government, in its petition, intimated that if the opinion of the Judges of the Appellate Court—Grosscup, Seaman and Baker—were allowed to stand, it would nullify nearly every shred of rate reformatory legislation accomplished by the Roosevelt Administration.

NORTH DAKOTA, NEW SEA TERROR AFLOAT

Giant Battleship is Successfully Launched at Quincy, Mass.

Quincy, Mass., Nov. 12.—With representatives of the State and Federal governments and Governor Burke and staff, of North Dakota, present, the giant battleship North Dakota was launched at the Fore River ship building yards.

The ship was christened with a bottle of North Dakota's own vintage by Miss Mary Benton, daughter of Colonel John K. Benton, of Fargo, N. D.

The North Dakota is the largest battleship ever projected, her nearest competitor being the British battleship Collingwood, launched in England last Saturday. Both are of the Dreadnaught class. The North Dakota is over 20,000 tons displacement. She is meant to go 21 knots an hour.

The North Dakota weighs over 9,000 tons. Her construction has broken all records. Her keel was laid December 16 last.

EX-SENATOR CARMACK KILLED IN A DUEL.

Robin Cooper, a Lawyer, Is Wounded in Avenging Criticism of His Father.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 12.—Former Senator Edward Ward Carmack was shot and instantly killed at 4.30 P.M. by Robin J. Cooper, a young lawyer, son of Col. Duncan B. Cooper.

The tragedy took place on Vine street, in front of the Polk flats. Young Cooper, who was accompanied by his father, was shot once in the right shoulder, and the second and last of the bullets from Carmack's revolver passed through his left coat sleeve. Cooper, though badly wounded, will recover.

Immediately after the shooting Col. Cooper put his arms around his wounded son and carried him to an infirmary, a few doors down Vine street, from whence he was soon taken to St. Thomas's Hospital.

Col. Cooper, who did not fire a shot, promptly gave himself up, and was later taken to the station house, where he was held for the night, saying he preferred not to ask for bail until after the preliminary investigation had shown that he was entitled to it.

The tragedy was the outcome of Carmack's repeated attacks on Col. Cooper, both on the stump and later in his paper, the Nashville Tennesseean.

Cooper supported ex-Gov. Robert L. Taylor in the contest for the Senatorial nomination in which Carmack was defeated two years ago. He was the close friend of Gov. M. R. Patterson in his race against Gov. Cox two years ago also took an active part in the Gubernatorial campaign last summer in the interest of Gov. Patterson, who defeated Carmack for the nomination.

Great excitement was caused by the tragedy, as Mr. Carmack was the best known man in Tennessee and had recently been before the people in every part of the State in a series of joint debates with Gov. Patterson, in which Mr. Carmack was the champion of Statewide prohibition.

Feeling between the saloon interests and the temperance forces ran high during the recent primary, and since his defeat for the Gubernatorial nomination Mr. Carmack had been active in an editorial way in support of Statewide prohibition.

The Tennessee Legislature meets early in January and it is freely predicted that Mr. Carmack's death will result in driving the saloons out of Chatanooga, Memphis, Nashville and La Follette, the only four places in the State where liquor is now sold.

POSTMASTER MORGAN SHOT BY A LUNATIC.

Eric H. B. Mackay, Escaped Madman, Had Record of Violence.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Impelled by homicidal mania and a fancied grievance, Eric Hugh Boyd Mackay, aged 35, member of an English family of note, shot and dangerously wounded Postmaster Edward M. Morgan.

Prompt and heroic action by Miss Dorothy Morgan, the Postmaster's sixteen-year-old daughter, in shoving the would-be assassin's revolver aside, undoubtedly saved her father's life.

Mackay, after shooting Mr. Morgan, turned his weapon, a .38 calibre, self-acting affair, on himself. One bullet entered his left breast and he fell dead with another through his head.

The tragedy occurred on West One Hundred and Forty-sixth street, just west of Broadway, and close to the Morgan residence.

Police investigation revealed persistent planning by Mackay for months to kill Mr. Morgan. It also disclosed that he has been insane nearly all his life, had shot a man in Boston, and had escaped from a Massachusetts asylum a few years ago.

BOY FROZEN TO DEATH

His Body Found Covered With Snow in Roscoe Conkling Park, Utica.

Utica, Nov. 10.—With a bed of leaves beneath him and a coverlet of snow the body of Michael Fileto, a schoolboy, was found in Roscoe Conkling Park, in the southern part of this city. The lad, who was 15 years old, was frozen stiff, and as far as appearances would indicate had died of exposure. The boy could hardly have lost his way, for there were several houses within a few hundred feet, and at night the lights of the city gleam bright in the valley below.

Playmates of the boy suggest that he ran away from home in a fit of temper.

WOMAN, CHILD AND MAN FOUND KILLED

Triple Tragedy in East Pittsburg Linked with Mysterious Death a Year Before.

MOTHER'S VENGEANCE A THEORY

Mrs. Wm. Casey Slays Son-in-Law, an Adopted Girl and Then Takes Her Own Life.—Crime's Inner History May Never Be Known.

East Pittsburg, Nov. 12.—A triple crime, the inner history of which probably never can be known, was discovered here by William Casey when he returned to his home, in Fifth avenue, shortly after midnight. On the bed, her throat cut, lay his wife; beside her, her head almost severed from the body, lay Irene, 6 years old, whom Mrs. Casey had adopted after the tragic death of her daughter a year before. At first sight George Hartzell, Mrs. Casey's son-in-law, appeared to be missing. But the fumes of chloroform led Casey to a trunk in a corner of the room. Raising the lid he found the body of Hartzell. Like the others, Hartzell's throat was cut. A cloth that had been soaked in chloroform was wrapped about the head.

That little Irene had been an innocent victim was plain, but there was little to show which of the two others was the murderer. A bloodstained razor that evidently had been used in the killing lay on the bed beside Mrs. Casey's body, and from that fact the police built a theory closely connected with the death of the woman's daughter. They believe Mrs. Casey killed Hartzell because she believed he a year before, had killed her child, who, at the time of her death, had been a bride only a few weeks.

Young Mrs. Hartzell was killed in her home by a pistol shot. Hartzell was arrested, but told a story of how his wife had kissed him goodby as he was leaving the house to go to work and then running into another room, had shot herself before he closed the outer door. Mrs. Casey openly accused Hartzell of the murder of his bride, but she was unable to produce proof, and when the Coroner's jury brought in a verdict of suicide Hartzell was released.

The widower went to live with the Caseys, and, if the story told by the police is true, Mrs. Casey from the first hour he entered the house set all her woman's craft to the task of fastening the death of his wife upon him. She was 37 years old and Hartzell 22, and the two came to spend so much time together that Casey became jealous and frequently quarreled with his wife on the score of her friendship for her son-in-law. Mrs. Casey, it is said, soothed her husband by telling him she was seeking to trap Hartzell into a confession that he had killed their daughter, and the strange seeming friendship continued and grew closer.

"If I ever can really satisfy myself that George shot my child I will kill him in cold blood with my own hands," the woman is said to have told her husband a few days ago.

Whether she actually learned anything from the young man's lips probably never will be known. The police believe that, in her own words, she "satisfied herself" of his guilt, and, after first trying to suffocate Hartzell with chloroform, cut his throat with the razor as he lay unconscious. Then, crazed with the sight of the blood and with the realization of what she had done, it is believed she killed the little girl and herself.

ROOSEVELT TELLS OF TAFT'S RELIGION

Rebukes Man Who Thought It Might Influence Votes.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Denunciation of religious intolerance in American politics is uttered by President Roosevelt in a letter made public. In it he answers numerous correspondents who asked during the campaign about Judge Taft's religious beliefs. The letter says:

"Secretary Taft's religious faith is purely his own private concern and not a matter for general discussion and political discrimination."

The President condemns bigotry in politics and says men who tried to use Taft's faith against him insulted Americans. Manhood is the only test. The President adds that he expects Catholics and Jews will be presidents. Discrimination against holder of one faith means retaliatory discrimination on men of other faiths.

MORSE, 15 YEARS, CURTIS LET GO

Former "Ice King" Doomed to Hard Labor in Federal Prison at Atlanta, Ga.

BANKER'S TOOL IS SET FREE.

Earnest Plea for Mercy Causes Federal Judge to Suspend the Latter's Sentence.—Disgraced Financier Is Hooted on His Way to Tombs.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Chas. W. Morse, fifty-two years old, former "Ice King" and steamship owner, with a chain of banks to do his bidding, and who a year ago was worth $22,000,000, was sentenced by Judge Hough, in the United States District Court, to serve fifteen years in the federal prison at Atlanta for misapplication of the funds of the National Bank of North America, of which he was formerly vice-president, and for making false entries in the bank's books. Judge Hough granted a stay of ten days in the execution of the sentence.

Alfred Curtis, former president of the National Bank of North America, who was convicted with Morse on the same charges, received the minimum penalty—five years—but Judge Hough suspended sentence, and Mr. Curtis left the courtroom a free man. The jury which convicted the two bankers recommended clemency in the case of Curtis, and United States Attorney Stimson, who prosecuted the case for the government, urged leniency.

No sooner had the former "Ice King," and manipulator of the funds of the National Bank of North America heard the sentence than the confidence that had marked his manner throughout the trial gave way to tears. In the moment of his deepest humiliation and disgrace when the fact was forced in upon him that prison stripes awaited him, Morse was unable to restrain his emotion and he wept in despair.

The popular approval of the outcome of the trial was shown in the scene in court. The crowd, which filled every inch of the room, applauded when sentence on Mr. Curtis was suspended. Whatever it may have thought of the former bank President it had genuine sympathy for his wife. No one could look at her, almost fainting from the torture of her position, yet bearing up to render what comfort she could be to her husband, without feeling thankful that the court had seen fit to show mercy in his case.

The crowd applauded again when it heard the fate of Morse. It had no sympathy for the man whose system of speculation had been laid bare and seemed to hold him largely responsible for the panic of last year and the suffering it involved.

Morse was jeered when, two or three hours later, he walked across City Hall Square under guard to Centre Street and the Tombs, and the last words that fell on his ears from the world of freedom as the iron gates of the prison clanged behind him were the taunt:

"How would you like to be the iceman?"

Through it all the prisoner's stoicism never deserted him in public. He broke down when alone with his family, but to the crowd he presented the same determined front he had preserved throughout the trial.

THE SHEPHERD PSALM.

Nov. 15, '08—(Psalm 23.)

If an audience of a thousand people was asked to mention the most beautiful portion of the entire Bible, the vast majority would name the 23rd Psalm. Probably this psalm and the Lord's Prayer are known by heart to more people than any other section of the Scriptures. This shepherd psalm has a grip on the heart of the race. It is equally appropriate at the cradle and the grave; it falls in lisping accents from the lips of childhood, it trembles triumphantly on the lips of old age. There is no rank or condition in life to which it does not appeal. All will agree that if language was ever inspired, the 23rd psalm is inspired. Criticism devout, and criticism demoniac never assaulted this great psalm. It is pre-eminent among the poetic gems of all ages.

Notice the position of the psalm. It follows the 22nd and it precedes the 24th and if you will take the trouble to look it up, you will find that it bears a relation to both. For the 22nd psalm is the psalm of the cross, and the 24th psalm is the psalm of the throne; the one speaks of crucifixion and the other of coronation. It is appropriate therefore that the 23rd psalm should picture a holy life, following soul crucifixion and antedating glory.

Does Not Mean Death.

Do not make the mistake of thinking that the valley of the shadow of death refers to the exit out of life. For you observe that on the other side of that experience, tables are spread in the presence of enemies, the head is annointed with oil, the cup runneth over, and goodness and mercy follow "all the days of my life."

Many a soul passes through the valley and shadow of death a good many years before he dies. If you have never had an experience compared with which death would be welcome, you have something before you that will test every faculty of your mind, every power of your soul. John Bunyan was a good interpreter of the 23rd psalm. In his Pilgrim's Progress he makes Christian walk through the valley of the shadow of death, very soon after he starts upon his pilgrimage. It was a terrific experience, but he came out of the darkness to live among men for many years, "the valley of the shadow of death" far behind. When Christian went out of earthly life there was no gloom nor shadow, but a shining pathway and choirs of welcoming angels. No, David does not refer to the change which men call death in this psalm. He calls it the "shadow" of death and a shadow never harmed anyone. The shadow of a serpent never bit anyone. The shadow death may be dark and portentious, ghosts and hobgoblins to the terrified fancy may crowd the gloom, but they are shadows that dissolve like the baseless fabric of a dream—in the morning.

True View of Life.

It seems a little singular that right into the heart of this wonderful psalm such a gloomy picture should be projected. Here we have green pastures, still waters, paths of righteousness, prepared tables, annointing with oil, cups running over, goodness and mercy all the days of life. And we have also "the valley and the shadow of death." But is not that after all, a true view of life? Men are not altogether like sheep, lying down in a fat pasture, getting ready for slaughter. If you look carefully you will find in this psalm, not a sheep at all, but David, (v. 1 & 2) "I" "My" "Me." You will find the backslider (v. 3.) "He restoreth my soul." You will find the traveler. (v. 4.) "Thy rod and staff." You will find the warrior. (v. 5.) "Mine enemies." You will find the priest. (v. 5.) "Annointest my head with oil." You will find the permanent resident "dwell in the house of the Lord forever." In other words, the Shepherd leads us, green pastures are beneath us, still waters are beside us, a prepared table is before us, enemies are around us, goodness and mercy are following us, the house of the Lord is awaiting us, but to reach it somewhere on the journey we shall have to pass through the valley of the shadow of death. Where there is so much brightness there must of necessity be deep shadows.

Best Things Come Afterwards.

And lest anyone should shrink and hesitate about that experience, observe that the best things in life come afterwards. On this side of the valley are green pastures and still waters, experiences of comfort and undisturbed, untried repose; on the other side are banquets and annointings and feasting, right in the presence of conquered foes, cups running over, eternal habitations occupied. Jesus Christ himself had His Gethsemane on the way to the throne, and no man is prepared to look with a level head and a correct judgment at life until he has passed through a midnight wrestle with Jacob or a Gethsemane struggle with Christ. Christ went to the cross as a conqueror, but in Gethsemane he sweat blood. He was the true shepherd of the sheep and His sheep hear His voice and follow Him.

SECTION 7. That nothing in this ordinance shall be construed to grant unto the said The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania any exclusive right, or to prevent a grant of similar privileges to other companies.

SECTION 8. That The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania shall, under its seal and by its proper officers, within sixty (60) days from the date of the passage of this ordinance, signify in writing its acceptance of all the terms, conditions, regulations and restrictions in this ordinance contained; in default of which, this ordinance shall become null and void and of no effect.

COCAINE FORBIDDEN IN U. S. MAILS.

Government Discovered That Great Quantities Were Sold to Users.

NEGROES FORM HABIT

Pure Food Experts Are on the Track of Medicines Which Contain the Drug.—Use of This "Dope" is Said to Be a Greater Evil Than Whiskey Drinking

Washington, D. C.—Alarmed by the extent to which the cocaine habit has spread in the larger cities of the Country the Post Office Department has issued an order denying the use of the mails to cocaine or its derivatives. To do this it was found necessary to extend the provisions of Section 4 of the Postal regulations.

Government reports show that an enormous amount of cocaine is sent through the mails each year, and that this class of matter is steadily growing greater. The crusades waged against the habits in the cities have driven the "drug fiends" to seek other means of procuring the powder, and the mails have been the innocent channels through which the work of the crusaders has been rendered partially ineffective. Much of the cocaine that has passed through the mails has been in the form of so-called medicines. These "medicines will also fall under the ban.

The action of the Post Office Department was taken by authority of Congress granted at the last session, when it included a prohibition against the drug in making up the department's appropriation bill. It was said by the Post Office authorities that the order had its genesis in the attempt of certain Southern legislators to have a general order passed prohibiting the sending of intoxicating liquors into prohibition States either through the mails or by common carriers engaged in inter-State trade.

It developed that in the South the habit had fixed itself to an alarming degree on the negroes. The curse of cocaine, in fact, is said to be as great if not a greater menace to the peace of that section of the country than the liquor habit.

The difficulty faced by those who have tried to combat the evil in the cities has been the ease with which the drug has hitherto been obtained. While druggists selling the liquor without a physician's prescription have been arrested time and again and frequently convicted, there has been much more cocaine obtained by those addicted to its use than ever was purchased over the counters of drug stores.

Much of the additional supply came directly from the manufacturers to the purchasers through the mails. Being a dry substance and susceptible of packing so that its real nature was readily concealed, it lent itself to mailing.

The great increase in medicines that contain cocaine in great quantities has been a source of uneasiness to the Government. There are a great number of such "remedies" and the Bureau of Chemistry of the Agricultural Department is after them under the Pure Food Law.

The charge has been made that cocaine has even found its way into the proprietary drinks sold to the public at soda fountains. Dr. H. W. Wiley, Chief of the Bueran of Chemistry, only a short time ago, publicly denounced one such drink. He declared it contained cocaine, and because of his statements its sale at army posts and in the navy was prohibited.

Among the negroes of the cities the use of cocaine has assumed very large proportions. Government agents who have investigated the matter in conjunction with State authorities have discovered that a regularly established trade is pursued in furnishing the drug to its users.

The peddlers are to the drug business what the "boot-leggers" are to the liquor traffic. They carry their stock in trade with them and sell it in unique measure. Instead of giving their customers so many grains for a certain sum, they sell it by the "card." A customer may purchase anywhere from a "deuce" to a "ten" card of "coke," as the drug is know in the vernacular by those who use it. The peddler spreads the powder thinly over the spots on a playing card. His charge depends on the denomination of the card, and is based on the number of spots he has to cover to complete the sale.

The United States is a party to a treaty to stamp out the opium traffic, and for years agitators have insisted that the cocaine traffic should also be attacked. Whether the Government will take any further steps toward combating the transportation of the drug has not yet been considered.

An Extraordinary Condition.

A remarkable condition arose in the Muskogee (Okla.) clearing house the other day. When members of the association met to adjust their bank clearings, it was found that there was $40,000 in checks in the day's business, and that when settlement was made the accounts of each bank against all other banks balanced to a penny. No bank had to pay a cent to any other.

NO NEW MODES FOR COREANS.

They Are Likely to Rebel if the Japanese Call for Different Clothes.

It is reported that the Japanese propose to force their own style of dress upon the already rebellious Coreans. Such an attempt would probably be followed by a repetition of the serious and in some cases sanguinary results that arose a few years ago out of the Japanese attempt to force the shaving of the Corean topknot.

It seems to be one of the peculiar twists of the Japanese national character that the first yoke they would impose upon a subject people should be in the nature of sumptuary laws. Although free themselves to borrow from outside civilization and adapt to their own purposes all that they feel necessary even down to the plug hat of convention, the Japanese insist whenever they have the chance that those whom they rule shall follow their domestic customs willy nilly.

Now the Corean hates change for change's sake first, and more bitterly will he oppose change when initiated by his implacable enemy from across Tsushima straits. In the matter of his dress the Corean believes that what has been good enough for his ancestors for unnumbered hundreds of years, is good enough for him, even though doctors may explain to him that half the deaths in winter come from the ridiculously inadequate linen lawn dress that he wears.

The present Corean starched skirt and horsehair hat, shaped in the semblance of a fly screen to set on a butter dish, are just what the Chinese of the Ming dynasty used to wear about four hundred years ago. The skirt and bagged trousers of the Corean, man and woman alike, are white, winter and summer. White is the mourning color all over Mongolian territories, and a strange story is told by the Coreans themselves to account for this mourning garb.

It seems that hundreds of years ago there was an epidemic of poisonings among the royal family. Crown princes, royal concubines and heirs of the blood were dying with unpleasant regularity.

Every time there was a death in the royal family all the subjects of the King were forced to wear the mourning color for the space of one year. The ancient Coreans grew so weary of paying forced respect to royal ghosts that they became living ghosts themselves by donning the mourning white for good and all.

That is the way this dead land of the Orient became peopled with these white spectres that now flit listlessly out of the path of the conquering Japanese, wondering in their dull way when fortune will turn and they will be rid of the little brown pest. The Coreans will probably continue to pay exorbitant taxes to their conquerors, to stand passive while their agrarian and mineral rights are taken from them; but if the men from Japan attempt to trifle with what this spiritless shadow wears on his back or on his head he will suddenly materialize into quivering militant flesh.

The Best Men.

"I can get an English coachman a place twice as quickly as a German or a Yankee coachman," said an employment agent. "Each country, I find, is supposed to turn out one kind of workman of peculiar excellence. Thus England's specialty is the stableman.

"France's specialty is the chauffeur. The cook, too, is a specialty of France.

"Scotland is noted for its engineers, and in the field of sport for its golf coaches.

"The Swiss are considered to be the best watchmakers. It is never any trouble to get a Swiss watchmaker a job.

"The Swedes are the best sailors.

"Germans are at a premium as brewery hands.

"Italians are in demand as plaster workers, a trade wherein they wonderfully excel."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Vicious California Blackbirds.

Thousands of savage blackbirds infest the city, and in some of the suburbs they are so bold that dogs are kept on the jump avoiding them, men on bicycles are sometimes chased for blocks and pedestrians pecked on the heads if they happen under trees where there are nests. The birds usually fight in pairs.

If a man with a very white hat comes along, they swoop down, beat it with their wings and claw it with the rage of wounded eagles. Frequently they aim their sharp beaks at the victim's eyes and he has difficulty in defending himself.. The painful yelping of cornered canines attracts flocks of the birds and then the fur flies.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Where Hippocrates Lectured.

The oldest tree in the world is to be found in the Isle of Cos, on the coast of Asia Minor. It is a platane, under the shade of which Hippocrates, the father of medicine, lectured to his pupils. Now as the trees at that time must have seen many years, the tree, it would seem, is considerably over 2,500 years old. The trunk has a circumference of 32½ feet and it still bears a leaf, but decay is apparent and two of the principal limbs have to be supported by brick pillars.—London Globe.

THE CARE OF LINEN

HINTS ON HOW TO PROLONG ITS USEFULNESS.

Like Everything Else It Requires a Rest Occasionally—Will Keep Longer and Look Better if this Rule is Followed.

Few housekeepers realize that all linen in constant use will keep longer if it is allowed to "rest" at times. This same principle holds good with garments and various toilet articles. Take for example the plan followed by a woman whose house linen is limited, and who likes to make it last. She has a family of three and keeps out eight sheets each week. As soiled ones come in fresh from the laundry she places them always at the bottom of the pile, so in this way the same sheet is not used two weeks in succession, but is sure of a fortnight if not three weeks' "rest." In a store closet she keeps two other piles of eight, and every two months the sets of sheets that have been in use are put into the store place, another set being put into the cupboard for weekly use. The arrangement takes very little time and it is more than worth while in the saving of linen. Pillow cases and towels she manages in the same way, only the quantity of the latter is greater. Her table linen is used for six months and then put away for a year.

Luxurious as it may sound to have such a quantity of linen, the gathering of it is inexpensive, for the woman buys a sheet or table cover occasionally and puts it away, thus keeping her store in condition. At the same time pieces wear out so slowly that there is never much loss to be made good at one time, and the pocketbook is saved accordingly.

Linen sheets like others wear first in the centre, and it repays to slit them down the middle to get the edges in the place. This is done by tearing them in two lengthwise. The selvages are then overhanded together with very fine cotton, that a big seam shall not be made, and then the raw edges are hemmed. The life of a sheet is greatly prolonged if this is done in time.

Tooth and nail bushes should always be had in sets of twos, if not threes, because bristles fall usually because of having become soft from constant wetting. Therefore if they are thoroughly dried fairly often their usefulness is prolonged.

For example, a woman who keeps two tooth brushes in use at the same time, using one every other day, will find that the two will last longer than two others would if one was worn out before beginning on the second. All tooth brushes should hang when not in use, to allow the moisture to run off.

Shoes last much longer if they are rested for a month, the leather being well oiled when put away. Underclothes like house linen, endure longer by the rotation method.

Care of the Feet.

Women do not realize the importance of changing the shoes often in caring for the welfare of the feet. Many busines women will wear the same shoes day after day, until they are thrown away, too old to wear.

Shoes, like everything else, need a rest, and if women would have at least two pairs and alternate from one to the other from day to day, the feet would be kept in much better condition and the shoes would outlast three pairs of shoes that are never changed.

Shoes need to be aired thoroughly every day, and if they are put on day after day without proper airing and drying, they will become hard and unhealthy to wear.

After a long walk it is necessary to change the shoes. The feet are tired and sore and need a change. The feet should be bathed directly after the walk in warm water and pure soap and then bathed with either alcohol or hot vinegar in the water.

It will soothe tired, aching feet, if soft slippers are put on after the heavy walking shoe. The house shoe should be soft and the heels should be lower than the walking shoe.

The Diligent Worker.

To be diligent is to be praiseworthy.

The diligent worker never hurries, and always gets satisfaction out of her work.

She never slackens pace in her labors unless there is some difficulty in her path that she is forced to surmount.

She is quick in debating a question and reaches a conclusion in a reasonable length of time.

Ever ready to facilitate her mode of working, she finds the easiest way out of difficulties and in this manner good work is noted by her superiors and she wins their highest esteem.

In line of promotion it is the diligent worker that comes first. She looked upon by her fellow-workers as a model and all pattern after her.

To be diligent is to be quite worth while.

Weigh and Measure.

Most culinary failures come from the habit of guessing. Weigh everything that is to be weighed and measure carefully all other ingredients. Do this, even if you have made the article repeatedly, and you will be spaired unpleasant surprises in spoiled dishes at important moments.

HATS OF ANCIENT TIMES.

The Panama and Oother Seemingly Modern Headgear Dates Back.

The high hat, has, in fact, a forerunner in even more ancient history. The Egyptians, clear back before the strawless brick scandal, wore a high cupola-shaped affair as a sign of royal authority. I believe the thing was queered later, says a Broadway hatter in an interview in the New York Tribune, and came to be worn by the contractors and section bosses on the royal pyramids. The Romans finished their toppers off in a point, I believe, and the priests had some sort of freak skull cap with a point like a spear-head. Things got mixed up a little in the reign of the lamented Charles the One in England, when the hoi-polloiish put on the steeple hat, high and narrow, with broad brim and no decoration, and left the aristocratic Cavaliers to wear the low, broad crowns with feathers in them, sort of a prototype of the beribboned Panama here.

Fact is, near as I can dope it out, all the wonders are lineal descendants of something that happened to our forbears brain cages. The Panama, for instance, and its poor relative, the plain straw, date back to the Century before Christ in Egypt. From there it migrated to Morocco, then to Spain, and on to these United States. Caps are almost as old as craniums. The Egyptians had 'em and so did the Greeks. The old 18th and early 19th century cocked hat, which is in imminent danger of walking the earth again soon, had a forbear in Ancient Greece.

The cap sprung direct from the turban, which itself was the only child and heir of the fillet, the Adam among hats, which was a simple band used to keep the locks of ancient man out of his eyes while he made sausage meat of his neighbor. That was before tonsorial artists had decorated the corners with striped poles and when a shampoo would have been considerd a sign of degeneracy. Some will have it though, that the wig was the original prdgenitor of the hat family. Anyhow, the human specimen who followed along after the cave man used to make himself beautiful by sticking flowers and feathers in his hair. Then the institution of marriage was invented and men began to lose their hair Consequently, they had to have wigs to stick the feathers in. You hear how that hats cause baldness. According to this other line of dope, baldness caused hats.

Then history did another return engagement. After old Cromwell got his in England they reverted partly to the pre-hat period, shaved their heads and put on wigs. Then they wore hats only occasionally, and that merely for show.

Pearls Are a Disease.

Pearls have been lately studied by zoologists, and their true history made known. They are a disease, caused, like so many other diseases, by an infecting parasite. They are found much as we see them in jewelry, as little lustrous spheres imbedded in the soft bodies of mussels, oysters and even some kinds of whelks, but they are not found in the shellfish like crabs and lobsters, called crustacea. Pink pearls are found in some kinds of pink-shelled whelks. A pearl-mussel or pearl-oyster has a pearly lining to its shell, which is always being laid down layer by layer by the surface of the mussel's or oyster's body, where it rests in contact with the shell, which consequently increases in thickness. If a gram of sand or a little fish gets in between the shell and the soft body of its maker, it rapidly is coated over with a layer of pearl, and so a pearly boss or lump is produced projecting on the inner face of the shell, and forming part of it. These are called "blister pearls," and are very beautiful, though of little value since they are not complete all round, but merely knobs of the general "mother-of-pearl" surface. These blister pearls can be produced artificially by introducing a hard body between the shell and the living oyster or mussel.—Weekly Telegraph.

His Old College Chums.

A conductor sent a new brakeman to put some tramps off a train; they were riding in a box-car. The brakeman dropped into the car and said, "Where are you fellows going?" "To Atchison." "Well, you can't go to Atchison on this train, so get off." "You get," came the reply, and as the new brakeman was looking into the business end of a gun he took the advice given him and "got." He went back to the caboose and the conductor asked him if he had put the fellows off. "No," he answered, "I did not have the heart to put them off. They want to go to Atchison, and, besides, they are old schoolmates of mine." The conductor used some very strong language and then said he would put them off himself. He went over to the car and met with the same experience as the brakeman. When he got back to the caboose the brakeman said, "Well, did you put them off?" "Naw, they're schoolmates of mine, too."—Wellington (Kan.) News.

Open Publicity the Best Guaranty of Merit.

When the maker of a medicine, sold through druggists for family use, takes his patients fully into his confidence by frankly and fearlessly publishing broadcast as well as on its bottle wrappers, a full list of all its ingredients in plain English, this action on his part is the best possible evidence that he is not afraid to have the search light of investigation turned full on his formula and that it will bear the most thorough investigation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of weaknesses, periodical pains and functional derangements of the organs distinctly feminine, is a medicine put up for sale through druggists for woman's special use, the maker of which takes his patients into his full confidence by open and honest publicity.

A glance at the published ingredients on each bottle wrapper will show that it is made wholly from native, American, medicinal roots, that it contains no poisonous or habit forming drugs, no narcotics and no alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol, both for extracting and preserving the active medicinal properties found in the roots of the American forest plants employed. If interested, send name and address to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his little book of extracts from the works of eminent medical writers and teachers, endorsing the several ingredients and telling just what Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of. It's free for the asking.

TURKISH WOMEN'S FACES BARE NOW.

Veil Commanded by Koran Thrown Aside by Many Thousands of Women in Turkey.

Berlin, Germany.—Urged on by men actively promoting the political upheaval in the Ottoman empire, hundreds of thousands of Turkish women, despatches received here relate, have torn off the traditions veil commanded by the Koran and to-day are snowing themselves triumphantly in the streets with entirely uncovered faces. All the women apparently are delighted with the new-found freedom, which originated in Monastir, the cradle of the recent revolution, and was caused by the proclamation of a Moslem priest from the mosque canceling the Koran's commandment.

"We will help to make the world beautiful by this act," the priest declared in the midst of scenes of wild jubilation at the startling innovation, which everywhere was greeted with strong approval.

THE SULTAN OF TURKEY.

This change—the most amazing feature of the rebellion and probably unequaled for its radicalism in Turkish history—was attended by the gathering of vast crowds of curious men in the principle thoroughfares of every town, who cheered loudly every unveiled woman. Everywhere are heard expressions of praise for the relief from the monony of the dark, ugly covering which has hidden the now smiling faces of the Turkish women from the world.

The Ottoman Empire seems shaken to the core and utterly renovated by the new order of affairs, and that mystery formerly surrounding Turkish womankind has vanished. It is believed a daring reformer soon will attempt the introduction of European clothes, instead of the baggy trousers for the liberated women, and a general belief exists this move, too, would be received with acclaim by the many new-idea Turks.

PLANTS HAVE INTELLIGENCE.

Darwin to Assert Old Thesis at His Father's Jubilee.

London.—Francis Darwin president of the British Association meeting on the occasion of the jubilee of his father's announcement of his famous theories, reiterates in his inaugural address the contention that plants are endowed with intelligence, for which he was criticised by conscientists years ago.

Darwin illustrates his theory chiefly by climbing plants to the influence of light, deducting therefrom that plants have memory and so develop habits. He will particularly describe the hop and bryony plants, showing that their intelligence and memroy are hardly less than those of the lowest animals.

Census Taker of Natural Resources Talks on Annual Downfall.

Washington, D. C.—Just about 200,000,000 cubic feet of water falls from the heavens annually throughout this country," said Dr. W. J. Magee, Chief of the Bureau of Soils, and one of the men who are making census of the natural resources of this country.

"If water can be used once for power, then for irrigation, again for power, and later as a highway it will have served its purpose well," he said. "It is the essence of the whole work of water conservation and utilization now in progress.

"The census of natural resources is expected to develop a vast fund of information and to show in a concrete and emphatic way the value of elements of which little account is taken. It will be the basis from which scientific work will be carried forward, designed to show how best to utilize all the resources."

BRITONS MAY WINTER HERE.

Possibility That This Country May Be Popular Resort.

Power of Water.

Water, looked upon as the tamest of liquids, is as great an explosive as dynamite under certain conditions. In one day water breaks up more earth and rock than all the gunpowder, guncotton and dynamite in the world do in a year.

WORRY CAUSE OF INSANITY.

Meditating on Trouble the Cause of Mental Derangement.

Medical experts agree that worry, in its numerous phases, is the chief cause of insanity.

"I notice that in the official returns of the commissioners in lunacy intemperance is credited with being responsible for the largest number of insane persons," said a specialist. "We must bear in mind that all the cases resulting from intemperance are classed under one head, and figures amounting to 3,338 placed under it. The cases which might justifiably be classed as 'worry' are, on the other hand, divided up into sections. Put them all together and the following is the result:

Domestic trouble	1,318
Mental anxiety and overwork	1,192
Adverse circumstances	1,025
Love affairs	258
Privation and starvation	202
Total	3,995

"These figures bear out in a striking manner the advice, 'Don't Worry,' which the medical faculty is constantly enforcing upon 90 per cent. of its patients. Worry is the inveterate foe of all doctors, and the worst of it is that it is generally without cause.

"It is a great mistake, when any trouble arises, to get into a flutter, wonder what the end will be, and reproach oneself for not performing a certain thing or other which would have prevented it. Yet that is what thousands do.

"Surely, the only rational attitude is to look at the thing dispassionately—as it is, not as it might be—consider how far it has gone, and then sit down quietly to think of some way first to arrest the danger, and then to repair the damage.

"The pace at which we live and the keenness of commercial competition are all against this. People become excited, which leads to a frenzy of worry. They then find themselves in the doctor's hands, or, worse still, often in the lunatic asylum, as the report printed yesterday proves so eloquently."—London Express.

BEGGARS' UNION.

French Organization for Protection Against Pretenders.

Not long ago an Austrian association of dancing masters sought redress at the hands of the law for the infringement of their prerogative by an unfortunate doctor of medicine who had found it impossible to make a living by the practice of his own profession. But the most remarkable trade union of which we have heard is one in the south of France formed by beggars for the suppression of unqualified practice.

A meeting of street singers and of the lame, the halt and the blind who extract voluntary contributions from the charitable public was held at Marseilles, a one legged man being in the chair, for the purpose of organizing themselves into a body strong enough to resist the encroachments of pretenders. The association was duly constituted, with statutes and bylaws. It was decided that only French subjects with genuine malformations or sores could be admitted to membership.

Compliance with this condition may not be altogether easy to enforce, for the imitation of diseases is a fine art. Readers of the life of Ambroise Pare may remember that when he was still a barber's apprentice he won some reputation in his native town by the exposure of a beggar who used to stand at the door of the parish church exposing to the pity of the faithful a frightful fungating tumor of the arm which proved to be a piece of decomposed mutton. Since the foundation of the association two one legged men—named, we learn from the Journal des Dedats, Roisin and Carlier—have started on a mission, delivering addresses wherever they go, warning the public against impostors.

The headquarters of the association are to be in Paris, and the organization will be under the direction of one Doussineau, who though he walks on crutches is said to be a man of devouring activity, going up and down beating up recruits. Some difficulty seems to have arisen in regard to contributions, many of the members preferring to keep their earnings to themselves. A feeling of uneasiness seems also to exist lest the list of members should find its way into undesirable hands.

Longevity of Germs.

Some interesting observations on the ever-important subject of the vitality of disease germs is made by Dr. Migal, of the Berlin University Medical School. Some ten years ago he took some earth from one of the public parks of that city at a depth of ten inches below the turf. This he dried for two days at a temperature of 30 degrees Centigrade, and then, by placing the dust in a hermetically sealed tube, which he put aside in a dark corner of the laboratory.

When taken, the soil contained an average of six and one-half million bacteria per gramme. After desiccation the number had fallen to rather less than four million. Today, ten years later, he still found three million per gramme, and he was able to isolate the specific microbe of tetanus. The inoculation of this soil in guinea pigs determined death from tetanus, after an incubation period of two days, showing the remarkable vitality of pathogenic microbes under favorable conditions.

SOURCE OF HEALTH.

Fresh Interests for Your Mind and Fresh Air for Young Lungs is the Secret.

A lady who has been considered a semi-invalid all her life tells me she is robust, strong and well, the cure caused by her automobile.

There are two explanations for this result. One is the fresh air she has taken into her lungs, the other the fresh interest taken into her mind.

It is only when the mind falls asleep or in a torpor and leaves the door unguarded that disease creeps in and attacks the fortress of the body.

The woman who is enthused with the excitement of her automobile exercise, and who looks forward to her daily spin with animation, has little room in her mind for worry about the weak organs in her body.

The bicycle craze cured thousands of complaining women of imaginary ills and hundreds of ailments which have become realities.

A man crippled with rheumatic pains for years, thrown from a carriage into a winter river, extricated himself and walked a mile to shelter and was free from rheumatism afterward.

All ailing women cannot be provided with automobiles, but all can make daily demands to the great source of health, joy, usefulness, action, love and power for these qualities, and those who ask shall receive. —Ella Wheeler Wilcox in Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Stimulating the Scalp.

The massage of the scalp is at the root of all treatment of the hair. By stimulating the flow of blood to the scalp new vigor is given to the hair. Without this massage hair restoratives are of little avail. Now, this massage may be better done by a masseur than by the person who is growing bald, but it is possible for that individual to massage his own scalp well enough to do the hair a great deal of good. The hands should be half folded and the ends of the fingers made to touch the scalp lightly. Then rub them slowly over the scalp. It is convenient to begin at the back of the neck and rub the scalp slowly up the center of the head to the forehead. Then the rubbing should be done all over the head from one side of the scalp to the other. It should be repeated several times. The same glow that the expensive fingers of the masseur produce follows, showing that the circulation in the scalp has been stimulated. The fingers should be pressed on the scalp with sufficient force to cause the blood to tingle.

London's Kilted Lady.

The new woman, attired in the latest development of her idea of rational dress, has invaded the city.

The New Woman in Kilts.

A stoutly built lady was seen walking jauntily down New Bridge street, apparently quite unconscious or indifferent to the amusement that her appearance caused to the passers by.

Her costume consisted of a dark blue coat and skirt—or, rather, kilt—which reached to just above the knees, disclosing beneath a neat pair of knickerbockers of the same material. A pair of thick, black woolen stockings and low shoes completed her attire.—London Mirror.

To Break Up a Cold.

The following is said to cure a cold in the head: In the morning after rising and at night before retiring wash the feet and legs as high up as the knees in cold water; then rub them with a rough towel and massage them till the skin is red and glowing. In addition to this cautiously snuff tepid water up the nose frequently during the day and sip with a teaspoonful a glassful as hot as can be borne an hour before each meal and at bedtime. A few days is often quite sufficient for simple cases and obstinate ones yield if the treatment is prolonged. No medicines are required. If taken in the first stages of the disease a cold is broken up which might otherwise become a severe case of bronchitis, lasting many days or weeks.

Women as Jewelers.

It is remarkable that more women do not take up the jewelry business when searching for a trade. A woman can cater to woman's tastes, and with an apprenticeship under a good firm should be capable of starting in for herself. An Englishwoman has taken up the work and is successful in resetting stones and also has acquired the unusual art of painting precious stones. This is delightful work for a woman, though rather trying to the eyes.

STOMACH LIVER LUNGS

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

THE CAPTAIN'S STORY.

How Dried Apples Saved the Ship From Foundering.

"In the language of the land lubber, this may be going some," said William Watt, chief officer of the steamship Strathclyde, "but it's a fact that dried apples saved a ship once. At any rate, it wasn't the Italians who commanded the steamer nor the Italians who were in the crew, and I'm willing to be modest and claim no part in the saving myself, leaving it to the dried apples to get the Carnegie hero medal or the Nobel prize.

"It was this way. While in a Mediterranean port I was asked to take a post on an Italian steamer, the name of which I shan't mention, for there is no use in rubbing it in. Some of the officers may still be on her, and I wouldn't hurt their feelings. It isn't professional. There was one of the Italian officers missing—too much Chianti or something of that sort—and as I was disengaged for the time being, they got me as second for the voyage from Patras to Marseilles. There another Neapolitan was to take the job and I was to quit the ship in the French port.

"On the Mediterranean the captain commandante and the first officer ran the vessel on a rock in clear weather. As there were about seven hundred passengers aboard you can imagine what an uproar there was when the steamer began to scrape and came to a stop with a jerk.

"Instead of waiting to see what had been done they, the commandante and his chief aid, backed the steamer off the rock and she at once began to show an inclination to take in all of the Mediterranean that could pour hrough a ragged hole slightly forward of amidships in the starboard side below the water line.

"The commandante and his first officer were for taking to the boats right away, although there were only a dozen boats capable of holding about half the persons who were on board, counting passengers and crew.

"Seeing me go below and hearing my announcement that I would see how big the hole was, seemed to shame the Italian commandante somewhat, for he halted the evacuation programme long enough to see me disappear below deck and make my way toward the freight hold.

"Not a soul on that ship knew what to do or thought of doing it if he knew, and the passengers were on the point of falling into a panic. Then the apples came in. I found that the hole was large but ragged and that some bags of apples stuffed into the aperture would undoubtedly rid the ship of water by aid of the pumps

CAULKING WITH DRIED APPLES.

"After a lot of trouble I got a few of the sailors to help me while the Italian commandante and his first officer, the chief engineer and the other Italian officers stood by at the life boats, ready for a quick getaway.

"We stuffed dried apples into that hole in the side until we all got the cramps. As the dried apples began to swell the water diminished and finally we found that no more water was coming in. We kept piling in the bags of dried apples until all that section of the hole was full of the dried fruit.

"Then the pumps were set working and all speed was made for the nearest Italian port. By crowding on all steam we got there on record time. Amid the cheering of the populace and the blowing of whistles over our timely arrival a thunderous creaking was heard on deck.

"As the steamer tied up to the pier the starboard rail and the deck parted company. The dried apples had swelled s that they had burst the ship. The old Italian tub opened up like a morning glory in full bloom, but every soul aboard had been landed safely and the dried apples were undisputably the heroes of a near catastrophe."

ARTIFICIAL HONEY.

Inverted Sugar—Better Than Some Kinds of Bees Honey.

Prof. Herzfield of Germany recently brought out some interesting points regarding the manufacture of artificial honey in Europe. It is noticed that when we bring about the inversion of refined sugar in an almost complete manner and under well-determind conditions, this sugar solidifys in the same way as natural honey, after standing for a long time and it can be easily redissolved by heating it. Owing to the increased reproduction of artificial honey, the bee cultivators have been agitating the question so as to protect themselves, and it is proposed to secure legislation to this effect, one point being to oblige the manufacturers to add some kind of product, which will indicate the artificial product. On the other hand, it is found that the addition of inverted sugar to natural honey tends to improve its quality, and especially to render it more easily digested. Seeing that sugar is about the only alimentary matter which is produced in an absolutely pure state, its addition to honey cannot be strictly considered as an adulteration. Bees often take products from flowers which have a bad taste; and the chemist Keller found that honey coming from the chestnut tree sometimes has a disagreeable flavor.

From wheat flowers we find a honey which has a taste which resembles bitter almonds, and honey from asparagus flowers is most unpalatable. Honey taken from the colza plant is of an oily nature, and that taken from onions has the taste of the latter. In such cases the honey is much improved by the addition of inverted sugar. Prof. Herzfeld gives a practical method of preparing this form of sugar: We take 1 kilogram (2.2 pounds) of high quality refined sugar in a clean enamel-ware vessel, and add 300 cubic centimetres (10 fluid ounces) of water and 1.1 grammes (17 grains) tartaric acid. This is heated at 110 deg. C. over an open fire, stirring all the while, and is kept at this heat until the liquid takes on a fine golden yellow color, such operation lasting for about three-quarters of an hour. By this very simple process we can easily produce artificial honey. Numerous extracts are now on the market for giving the aroma of honey. However, if we take the artificial product made as above and add to it a natural honey having a strong aroma, such as that which is produced from heath, we can obtain an excellent semi-honey.—Scientific American.

BRYAN'S STATEMENT

Confident That Something Has Been Accomplished Through His Efforts.

"LED AS BEST I COULD."

In the presence of his third defeat for the Presidency William Jennings Bryan evinces a spirit of serene acquiescence in the people's will and of comforting reflection that he has at least done some good in compelling the Republican party and the national Government to adopt in part or entirely many of the policies he has advocated. He believes that he will be remembered for having had much to do with the destruction of corruption in politics and with the advancement of the cause of the common people as against the favored few. He declares emphatically that he feels no sense of personal disappointment and no regret. He issued the following statement last Thursday.

"The election has gone against us by a decisive majority. The returns are not all in, and it is impossible at the present time to analyze them or to say what causes contributed most to the Republican victory. We made our fight upon a platform which embodied what we believed to be good for the American people, but it is for the people themselves to decide what laws they desire and what methods of government they prefer.

"I have faith that the publicity which we asked for will yet commend itself to the American people, that the election of Senators by the people will be secured, that the iniquities of the Trusts will arouse an opposition that will result in the elimination of the principle of private monopoly.

"I am confident that the people will see the necessity for the labor legislation and the tariff reduction which our platform demanded. I am confident, too, that the educational work done in this campaign will result in securing greater protection to bank depositors. The above are the most prominent reforms for which we labored, and I believe that these reforms will yet come together with more effective regulation of railroads and independence for the Filipinos.

LED AS BEST HE COULD.

"I desire to commend the work of our National Committee. I am entirely satisfied with Mr. Mack as the chairman and with the members of the committee. I do not see what they could have done more than they did, and as for myself, I put forth every effort in my power to secure victory for our cause. The nomination came from the hands of the voters. I have obeyed their command and have led as best I could.

"Words will not express my gratitude for the devotion which has been shown by millions of Democrats during the past 12 years. Neither am I able to adequately express my appreciation for the kind words which have been spoken since the election. If I could regard the defeat as purely a personal one, I would consider it a blessing rather than a misfortune, for I am relieved of the burdens and responsibilities of an office that is attractive only in proportion as it gives an opportunity to render a larger public service. But I shall serve as willingly in a private capacity as in a public one. God does not require great things of us. He only requires that we improve the opportunities that are presented, and I shall be glad to improve the opportunities for service presented by private life.

COMFORTED BY NEBRASKA.

"In this hour of national defeat I find some consolation in the cordial support given by my neighbors, by the citizens of Lincoln and by the people of the State of Nebraska. With a Democratic Legislature we shall be able to put into practice so much of the Denver platform as relates to State legislation, and I trust that our State will set an example that will be an influence for good in the nation."

How Electoral Vote is Counted.

There will be an elaborate procedure in the case of the men elected on the electoral ticket in Pennsylvania. The Prothonotaries of each county will send the returns to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, who in turn delivers them to the Governor. It is the duty of the latter official to enumerate the vote of the State, declare the result, notify the electors of their election on or before the last Wednesday in November, and communicate the result to the Secretary of State of the United States. The electors meet in Harrisburg on the second Monday in January following their election, and cast their votes for President and Vice President of the United States. Certificates of this vote are made in triplicate, one sent by messenger, selected by the electors themselves, to the President of the Senate of the United States at Washington, a second is sent through the mails to the same official, and the third is delivered to the Judge of the district in which they assemble. These returns are opened in the presence of Congress on the second Wednesday in February and the result declared by that body in a joint session held for that express purpose.

Elk County Unanimous.

Local politics in Elk county are of the unanimous order. In the tabulated vote of the county, published in the Ridgway Democrat, under the head of Assembly the tabulation is as follows:

John M. Flynn, Republican	2200
John M. Flynn, Democrat	2500
John M. Flynn, Prohibition,	186

There was no other candidate. For Prothonotary the count stood:

A. M. Ent, Republican,	2261
A. M. Ent, Democrat,	2461

For County Treasurer:

Andrew Hau, Republican,	2415
Andrew Hau, Democrat,	2276

A. M. Ent is a Columbia county boy, a son of the late Sheriff Uzal Ent. He has held the office of Prothonotary of Elk county several terms in succession.

Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, looks like a rising sun. A Democrat who can carry his State three times in succession in the face of a normal Republican majority of 100,000 is marked for a man of destiny. Perhaps he will be the Moses that will lead the agricultural constituencies of the Northwest out of the wilderness of Protectionistic and Trust-breeding Republicanism in which they have been blindly wandering for nearly forty years. In any event, Governor Johnson is well worth keeping an eye on.—Record.

RURAL IMPROVEMENT.

Superintendent W. W. Evans has issued a circular on the subject of Rural improvement, which is, in part, as follows. He says:

There is perhaps no subject in which educators and thoughtful people generally are so deeply interested as the study of means for the improvement of rural conditions. An era of wonderful development in all that pertains to the life and vocation of country people is just dawning. Since the movement concerns the rising generation chiefly, it has a valid place in our public schools, and we are impelled to take the initiative in encouraging every means of genuine and practical value to our country people.

With this end in view, we have secured the co-operation of the Division of Zoology of our State Department of Agriculture. Prof. H. A. Surface has done us a great service through his bulletins, in arousing an interest in the various diseases which infest our crops; he has now consented to give at each of our rural high schools a practical demonstration of ways and means for combating the same. Prof. A. Woodward Stephens, a graduate in the Agriculture course of Cornell University, and an experienced inspector of orchards, has been detailed to spend two days in each of these high schools. We are thus fortunate in being the first county in the state to receive the services of so valuable a man for so long a time—thirty-seven days in all.

SCHEDULE.

We have gone over the entire matter with him and have arranged the following schedule:

November 9 and 10, Sugarloaf, in charge of A. S. Fritz.

November 11 and 12, Benton, in charge of E. E. Beare.

November 13 and 16, Stillwater, in charge of Laura Essick.

November 17 and 18, Fishing creek, in charge of Samuel Senseholtz.

November 19 and 20, Orangeville, in charge of Ernest Merrill.

On Saturday, November 21, Mr. Stephens will address the County Teachers' Association on "A Neglected Industry in Columbia County."

November 23 and 24, Hemlock, in charge of Derl Hess.

December 7 and 8, Madison, in charge of J. H. Gaskins.

December 9 and 10, Millville, in charge of J. E. Shambach.

December 23 and 24, Greenwood, in charge of C. I. Parker.

December 28 and 29, Mt. Pleasant, in charge of M. D. Mordan.

December 30 to January 2, second annual excursion from Columbia County to Farmers' Week at State College.

January 4 and 5, Scott, in charge of Bruce Albert.

January 6 and 7, Centre, in charge of John Harris.

January 8 and 11, Briarcreek, in charge of Elbert Roberts.

January 12 and 13, Mifflin, in charge of Daniel J. Snyder.

January 14 and 15, Beaver, in charge of Geo. M. Lehman.

January 25 and 26, Main, in charge of Mabel Welsh.

January 27 and 28, Roaringcreek in charge of Charles Maurer.

January 29 and 30, Locust, in charge of Edwin M. Lazarus.

SUGGESTED PROGRAM.

I. A brief talk in the school room on
  (a) Some common insects which injure crops and how to combat them.
  (b) Pruning and caring for an orchard.

II. A practical field demonstration in nearby orchard.
  (a) Shaping a young tree and pruning an old one.
  (b) Spraying.
    1. If scale is present, prepare and apply lime-sulphur mixture to a sufficient number of trees to show that scale can be controlled.
    2. If there is no scale, show materials and equipment; explain method of preparing, mixing and application.

The person in charge should arrange the school program to give the demonstrator one hour during the morning and afternoon sessions each day. Since he is a stranger, the teacher will be expected to find board and lodging for him and his horse. There will be no charge for the materials or service, but it is customary to ask that the demonstrator and his horse be cared for without cost to him.

The farmers in each community are invited to attend all the sessions in the school as well as the actual demonstrations.

This is a splendid opportunity and will no doubt be grasped by those who desire to make farming pay, while the educational profit derived by the teachers and pupils of our high schools will undoubtedly prove even more valuable.

Appropriation for Game.

In his annual report to the State Game Commission, Secretary J. C. Kalbfus, recommends a State appropriation for the re-stocking of the state with game. He declares that hunting makes real men and that the Americans repelled the British in two wars because they were largely a nation of hunters and that sport in the woods today is a valuable training which is being interfered with because of the growing scarcity of game. Dr. Kalbfus recommends an appropriation of $25,000 be made by the next legislature, in addition to the regular appropriation to the commission, for the purpose of buying game to restock.

Dr. Kalbfus also recommends that the game season be shortened in order to conserve the game that remains. He says that the necessity for this action is apparent and that he has the advice of hunters and sportsmen that the open season should not begin until after November 1. Now part of the season opens in October, which is generally a dry month and that animals seeking for water are an easy prey to hunters who watch the streams.

Recommendations are also made for the increase of the State police who have been assisting the game commission in enforcement of game laws and for the passage of a bill to prohibit unnaturalized persons to carry arms.

Lincoln Memorial Proposed.

Congressman D. F. Lafean, of York, announces that he will introduce at the next session of the house a bill providing for the construction of a magnificent roadway reaching from Washington to the battlefield at Gettysburg.

The road will cost the government $7,000,000, and it is proposed to make it a national memorial to Abraham Lincoln, in celebration of his one hundredth birthday anniversary. Mr. Lafean says the proposed boulevarde meets with the approval of President Roosevelt, the Lincoln Memorial Association and scores of congressmen.

The two Coopers are in jail.

This is the second time the church has been visited by burglars in two years. The first time they obtained property worth $1000.

He was enticed, he said, to St. Michael's, Pa., where he was seized and dragged into a shanty near the railroad. There one of the men, a doctor, cut off both his arms.

MORSE MUST STAY IN JAIL

U. S. Court Refuses to Release Him on Bail.

IS GREATLY DISAPPOINTED

Millionaire Bank Wrecked Must at Least Remain In Prison Until Dec. 3, When Argument On Writ of Error May Come Up—Wife and Son Spent Day With Him, Confidently Expecting He Would Be Released, But Left Before Decision Was Rendered.

New York, Nov. 11.—Bail was denied Charles W. Morse, the financier, who has been sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment at hard labor, at the closing of the United States circuit court of appeals, and it now seems certain that the former multi-millionaire must remain in the Tombs prison at least until Dec. 3 next, when argument on the writ of error that has been granted him may come up.

Judges Lacombe, Ward and Coxe of the United States court of appeals rendered the decision. One loophole is left open to Morse's counsel in the decision, and that is that the judges decided that while bail was denied it was done so "without prejudice to a renewal of the application after a bill of particulars is filed."

The judges stated briefly that as the trial judge in the proceedings against Morse had refused to admit him to bail, the reviewing judges were not prepared on the papers submitted to make a disposition of the motion.

Morse had been hopeful of gaining his release from the Tombs, and the denial of bail came as a hard blow. His wife and son Harry had been with him in the jail, and they encouraged him in the belief that he would be free by nightfall. Mrs. Morse and her son left the prison before the decision had been rendered, and the news was conveyed to the prisoner by an assistant in his counsel's office.

While Morse tried to hide his disappointment, he felt too cast down to do so. He walked to the rear of his cell and sat on the edge of his hard, narrow berth and refused to make any comment.

There is one feature of the case that is particularly disagreeable to Morse. That is that no matter how long he is compelled to remain a prisoner in the Tombs, the time will not count as part of the fifteen years he must serve in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., in case he loses his fight for a new trial.

Judge Hough gave as his reason for refusing to admit Morse to bail that the case was not an extraditable one and that it would be easy for Morse to furnish bail through a bonding company, as the prisoner was worth $22,000,000. Morse, in an affidavit presented to the judges of the United States court of appeals, denied that he was a millionaire, saying that he had not enough money or securities to meet his obligations.

WU'S CHAUFFEUR ARRESTED

Chinese Diplomat Was Overspeeding Auto Down Broadway.

New York, Nov. 11.—Wu Ting Fang, Chinese minister to the United States, witnessed an example of the zeal of New York city bicycle policemen in checking speeding automobiles, when a motor car in which he and a member of his staff were riding was pursued for more than thirty blocks down Broadway and overtaken when it stopped at the Manhattan hotel, where the minister was to be a guest at a banquet.

Wu Ting Fang and Mr. Ho had been to Ossining in an automobile and were returning to the city to attend the banquet when their motor car broke down. A machine with Romeo Oliver as driver was hired.

Secret Service Agent P. M. Baldwin, who was with the pair, told the chauffeur to make all the speed he could. At Seventy-second street Bicycle Policeman Lemmon started in pursuit.

Broadway was pretty well congested with automobiles and carriages carrying theater crowds at the time, and the machine conveying the Chinese diplomat dodged in and out daringly, many times being near collision. "I couldn't get within six blocks of them at any time," said Policeman Lemmon in the night court.

The policeman's vesions of international complications were relieved by Secret Service Agent Baldwin accompanying him to court and paying $5 fine imposed by Magistrate Steinert.

PENNSY TO ELECTRIFY THE MAIN LINE

Time Between Philadelphia and New York to Be One Hour.

Philadelphia, Nov. 11.—Close on the heels of the electrification of the Pennsylvania railroad from Harrison, a Newark suburb, to Long Island City, comes the official announcement that the system from Manhattan and Jersey City to Philadelphia will also be electrified, and that the running time between New York and Philadelphia, a distance of ninety miles, will be reduced to one hour, thus placing William Penn's city practically on the outskirts of New York.

The Westinghouse company is already at work on the new engines, which are capable of a speed of 120 miles an hour.

It is also said that the next step in the general electrification scheme will be started on the division of the road between Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

DENIED APPEAL IN OIL FINE CASE

Decision Revoking $29,240,000 Fine is Sustained.

U. S LAWYERS CRITICISED

Federal Court of Appeals Denies Government's Application For a Rehearing of Famous Rebating Case. Court Says It Has a Right to Expect That Counsel Will Not Misuse Legal Terms to Spread Misinformation to Attract Wide Public Attention.

Chicago, Nov. 11—The government's petition for a rehearing of the case in which the United States circuit court of appeals reversed the judgment fining the Standard Oil company, of Indiana, $29,240,000 for rebating, was denied in the court of appeals.

It is authoritatively stated that the government will now attempt to bring the matter before the supreme court on a writ of certiorari.

The government's petition intimated that if the opinion of the judges of the appellate court — Grosscup, Seaman and Baker—were allowed to stand, it would nullify nearly every shred of rate reformatory legislation of the Roosevelt administration.

The petition closed with a statement that if that opinion were permitted to stand unmodified it would "tend to encourage disobedience to law, to impede the enforcement of salutary statutes, and largely to defeat their purposes."

In its opinion overruling the petition for a hearing the appellate court meets the points raised by the government, and in closing pays its respects to Attorney General Bonaparte and other counsel who signed the petition:

"Courts have the right to expect that counsel accustomed to practice in the courts of review not only know the meaning of legal terms constantly in use in discussions and opinions of these courts, but will not misuse such terms to spread misinformation respecting a judgment to attract wide public attention.

"A remark the germaneness of which that, in the nature of the case, is bound the bar of the country will perceive when we say that all that has to be done to obviate the objection made is to insert a clause so that the portion of the opinion objected to will read, 'a view of the law that is embodied in the charge, and carried out in the rulings, excluding, as a result of the charge on that point, the proffered testimony of one Edward Bogardus.'"

In addition to this slight change, Judge Baker amplified the original opinion by two paragraphs, classifying the court's opinion as to what constitutes a separate offense, and dealing with the government's contention that corporations may use another to commit offense, thus escaping punishment.

Immediately upon the overruling of the petition District Attorney Sims applied for a stay of mandate, which was granted, thus leaving the case still before the court of appeals pending the government's attempt to have it taken before the supreme court.

Members of the W. C. T. U., whose cause Mr. Carmack had ably championed, gathered at the station in numbers, and as the casket was borne in joined in singing, "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Stand Up for Jesus." A brief address was delivered by Rev. Lra Landreth. Mrs. Carmack and a few of her closest friends were taken on a special car with the body.

Robin Cooper, who fired the fatal shot, and who was himself wounded, is under arrest at a local hospital. He is doing well, but his physician stated that the wound, which is near the collarbone, is in a dangerous place and complications are not unlikely. Colonel D. B. Cooper, who was with his son when the shooting occurred, was transferred from police headquarters to the jail. Both are charged with murder.

Friends of Carmack are loud in their condemnation of the Coopers, and the Tennessean, of which Mr. Carmack was editor, both editorially and in its news columns made the unqualified charge of murder.

THE KAISER HONORS COUNT ZEPPELIN

Confers Order of Black Eagle on Airship Inventor.

Friedrichshafen, Nov. 11.—Emperor William, after witnessing a splendid series of manoeuvers by the Zeppelin airship, personally conferred upon the count the order of the Black Eagle, the highest Prussian decoration. Some expectation had been entertained that the emperor himself would be one of the airship's passengers in the manoeuvers, but instead Prince Von Fuehrstenberg, who has been the emperor's traveling companion lately, took his place in the car.

When the count returned from his flight, Emperor William shook his hand warmly and conferred upon him the order, saying:

"In my own name and in the name of the German people, I congratulate you from the bottom of my heart on the splendid work you have exhibited to me. The fatherland may well be proud to possess such a son, the greatest German of the twentieth century, whose invention has brought us to a new stage in the development of the human race.

"As a token of my admiring appreciation I confer upon you the exalted order of the Black Eagle."

Here the emperor hung the chain of the order around the count's neck and said: "And now, my dear count, permit me on the spot to confer unofficially the accolade."

The emperor then embraced Count Zeppelin thrice and called out: "Long live his excellency, Count Zeppelin, the conqueror of the air. Hurrah!"

The little ceremony, which was quite impromptu, was cheered by an enthusiastic crowd. Count Zeppelin was overcome with emotion.

SUICIDE ON EXPRESS TRAIN

B. Frank Hall Shot and Killed Himself.

Philadelphia, Nov. 11. — B. Frank Hall, a wealthy resident of St. Mary's, Pa., and a brother of State Senator J. K. P. Hall and Judge Harry Alvin Hall, shot and killed himself in a parlor car on the Buffalo express on the Pennsylvania railroad.

According to a statement of Judge Hall, his brother had been "slightly deranged mentally" for the last few days, and at the time of the tragedy was on his way to Philadelphia to consult a specialist.

With a brother and several friends Judge Hall walked into the dining car of the express when the train left Lancaster. It was not noticed that Mr. Hall acted strangely, and after dinner the party returned to the parlor car. A few moments later the suicide asked to be excused for a moment. He stepped into the toilet compartment and closed the door. Almost instantly there was a revolver shot. The door of the compartment was forced open and Mr. Hall was found lying on the floor, with two bullet wounds in his head. Death was probably instantaneous.

REBUKE FOR THE KAISER

Severely Criticised in Reichstag For His Utterances.

HIS INTERFERENCE CONDEMNED

Socialist Says If Any Other Person Had Done As Had Emperor William He Would Have Been Courtmartialed—Chancellor Von Buelow Told the Emperor He Could Not Remain In Office Unless His Majesty Was More Reserved.

Berlin, Nov. 11.—Emperor William never has been so severely judged by his parliament as he was during the debate in the reichstag on the interpellations concerning the conversations published with the permission of the emperor in the London Daily Telegraph on Oct. 28. The criticisms of his majesty's court, his ministers and his majesty's treatment of the constitution, as well as of his freedom of speech, went to lengths that astonished observers acquainted with the traditional caution of the chamber in dealing with the personality of the sovereign, and the emperor seemed to have no defenders.

Chancellor Von Buelow made an address lasting fifteen minutes, but he lacked his usual spirit, and a person high in his confidence is authority for the statement that he also had told the emperor that neither himself nor his successors could remain in office unless his majesty was more reserved. Prince Von Buelow spoke solemnly and without making use of any dramatic effects. The house received his explanation in icy silence instead of giving it that cordial applause which as a general thing follows the chancellor's fine parliamentary declarations.

The Conservatives, representing largely the landed nobility, were almost as relentless as the Socialists, the Radicals and the National-Liberals, and the proceedings are regarded by the extreme Liberals as the beginning of a long contest between the crown and parliament, that may end in Germany having a ministry responsible to parliament and not to the crown alone.

When Herr Bassermann, the National-Liberal leader, a friend of Chancellor Von Buelow's and a specialist in foreign affairs, began discussion of the incident there was hardly a vacant seat on the members' benches.

Herr Bassermann was followed by Herr Weimer, Radical, and he in turn gave way to Herr Singer, Socialist, who declared that if any other servant of the state had done such a thing as had Emperor William he would be brought before an imperial court for trial.

Prince Von Buelow spoke earnestly in reply to the critics of the government and the emperor. He calmly and briefly explained the circumstances of the publication of the emperor's interview. He said he had decided to remain as chancellor, but he could not say for how long. He then said:

"Concerning the statements attributed to Emperor William that a majority of the German people is hostile to Great Britain, the expression used by the Telegraph is too strong. Serious and regrettable misunderstandings have existed between Great Britain and Germany, but the German people desire peaceful and friendly relations with that empire, joined with mutual respect.

"Too great stress also is laid upon the point in the interview dealing with our interests in the Pacific ocean, which are incorrectly presented as inimical to Japan. We never thought about East Asia except for the purpose of obtaining a portion of the trade arising from economic development, and we have no idea of undertaking a maritime adventure there. The extension of the German fleet is just as little intended for aggression in the Pacific ocean as in Europe. The task in Germany's policy is not to limit the development of Japan.

"Some have gone so far as to imply secret designs against Great Britain in connection with the fleet, but these are entirely false."

DAUGHTER SAVED FATHER'S LIFE

Struck Assailant's Hand as He Fired at Him.

WILL PROBABLY RECOVER

Child's Action Deflected the Bullet Fired at New York's Postmaster at Close Range, Otherwise He Would Have Been Fatally Wounded—Tragedy Occurred On Street—Assailant Was a Former Inmate of Insane Asylum and Sought Mr. Morgan's Life For a Fancied Grievance.

New York, Nov. 10.—Edward M. Morgan, postmaster of New York city, who was wounded in the abdomen by a bullet fired by E. H. B. Mackay, an eccentric English stenographer, who then committed suicide, is resting well, and unless complications develop he will recover.

Mr. Morgan probably owes his life to the quick wit and bravery of his fourteen-year-old daughter, Dorothy, who saw Mackay draw his revolver and struck it with her hand. This deflected the bullet, otherwise the postmaster would have been fatally wounded, for his assailant was at close range and fired four shots in all. The shooting occurred at One Hundred and Forty-sixth street and only a short distance from Mr. Morgan's home. He was on his way down town at the time.

An investigation of the life and record of Mackay reveals that he was of a morbid nature and a former inmate of an asylum in Worcester, Mass. That his act was premeditated is made certain by a letter he left, but aside from a fancied grievance against Mr. Morgan and the postoffice authorities concerning the handling of his mail nothing has come to light to indicate why he should have sought to murder the postmaster. His clothing when searched gave up between thirty and forty smokeless cartridges, a heavy slung shot, a knife with a four-inch blade and a clasp knife. A quantity of literature on Socialism and a slung shot similar to the one found on the body were discovered in his room. That he was rational during work hours, however, was attested by the Broadway firm of lawyers by whom he was employed.

Mr. Morgan left his home, accompanied by his daughter, Dorothy, who was accompanying him to the subway station on her way to school. Mackay had been pacing up and down the sidewalk near the corner of Broadway and One Hundred and Forty-sixth street for two hours before the shooting. When Mr. Morgan and his daughter left their home and walked toward Broadway Mackay turned down the side street and met them.

Evidently he had never seen the postmaster, for as he met Mr. Morgan he asked, "Are you Postmaster Morgan?" At Mr. Morgan's affirmative reply Mackay drew his revolver and fired a shot into the postmaster's abdomen.

The wounded man fell to the sidewalk, and as two witnesses of the shooting came running up Mackay lay down on the sidewalk, opened his vest and sent one bullet into his head and another into his heart. He was dead when the first man reached him.

MORSE IS A BANKRUPT

Swears He Has Not Enough Money to Pay His Debts.

New York, Nov. 10.—Charles W. Morse, who two years ago was rated as being worth upwards of $20,000,000, swore under oath that he had not enough money or securities left from his vast fortune to pay his debts.

This revelation was made when the attorneys for Morse appeared in the United States circuit court of appeals to argue for the admission of Morse to bail. Morse, who has been sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment at hard labor in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., was not permitted to leave the Tombs prison when the motion to show cause why he should not be admitted to bail was argued, but an affidavit made by him was read. The motion was argued before Judges Lacombe, Ward and Coxe.

Wallace MacFarlane appeared in behalf of Morse, and in his endeavor to secure a favorable decision the lawyer quoted from the opinion of Judge Hough in refusing to grant bail, in which Judge Hough said that no amount of bail would be sufficient to insure the appearance in court of such a wealthy man as Morse when he was wanted.

The judges took all the papers in the case and reserved decision on the motion for bail.

25 MILES GROSS TOWN

Philadelphia Finds Itself a City of Distances.

Philadelphia, Nov. 10.—That Philadelphia, too, has some claims to being a city of "magnificent distances," is demonstrated by a little study just made by Mayor's Statistician George W. B. Hicks, the result of a Founders' Week inspiration. He shows it is possible to move forward in a direct line on a journey over twenty-five miles long and yet not once be without the Philadelphia city limits.

It was proposed during Founders' Week to place at every entrance to the city ornamental lamp posts on which would be shown the number of miles to city hall and the number of miles to the opposite extreme of the city's limits.

SHOT DEAD IN PISTOL DUEL

Edward W. Carmack Killed on Street at Nashville.

RESULT OF POLITICAL FEUD

Robin Cooper Fired Three Shots, and Mr. Carmack Fell, Dying Instantly. Cooper Was Shot In the Right Shoulder—Dead Man Was Formerly a United States Senator and Had Many Friends In Washington Among Both Democrats and Republicans.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 10.—Former United States Senator Edward Ward Carmack, editor of the Tennessean, was shot and killed in Seventh avenue by Robin Cooper, son of Colonel Duncan C. Cooper. Mr. Carmack was going north in Seventh avenue, and Colonel Cooper and his son were approaching Seventh avenue in Union street. Soon after they came in sight of one another the shooting began. Robin Cooper fired three shots and Senator Carmack one. Colonel Duncan C. Cooper, it is said, drew a pistol, but did not fire.

Senator Carmack fell to the ground with the trio of shots, dying instantly. Robin Cooper was shot in the right shoulder, but was not severely hurt.

Three bullets struck Mr. Carmack. One entered the left side below the heart and another the left shoulder.

EDWARD W. CARMACK.

The third bullet was in the neck and made a wound one and one-half inches long, and caused almost instant death.

It is said that the trouble between the men is one of the results of the recent Democratic gubernatorial primary, in which Carmack was defeated. Carmack had, since he became editor of the Tennessean, been rather caustic in adversely criticising what he called the Democratic machine, and had printed several editorials about Colonel Cooper.

Within the last few days, it is said Colonel Cooper told Carmack that these editorial criticisms must cease. Monday another editorial reference to Colonel Cooper appeared in the Tennessean, and this is supposed to have been the immediate cause of the trouble.

As soon as Senator Carmack fell on the edge of the street curbing Colonel Duncan Cooper put his arm around Robin Cooper, and both walked a few feet down Seventh avenue to Dr. G. Fort's office, where the slight wound in Robin's shoulder was treated. Dr. Fort said that the wound was only slight.

An ambulance carried the body of Mr. Carmack to an undertaking establishment. The pistol of Mr. Carmack was found lying at his side, with two chambers empty, and it was turned over to an officer. The stump of a cigar that Mr. Carmack had been smoking was also found on the walk beside his body.

Young Cooper was later carried to a hospital and Colonel Cooper is held at police headquarters. Robin Cooper is an attorney, twenty-seven years old and unmarried.

PLUNGED BIG KNIFE INTO MAN'S HEAD

Philadelphia Chinaman Murdered and Robbed.

Philadelphia, Nov. 10.—Jung Fook, a Chinese laundryman, was found murdered in his establishment at Thirteenth and Arch streets, in the center of the city, under mysterious circumstances. He had apparently been attacked while asleep on a bunk in the rear of the laundry and stabbed to death. His face had been viciously slashed with a large butcher knife, which had been finally plunged into his forehead. The knife was imbedded in the skull up to the hilt when the police found the body.

A colored woman who regularly scrubbed out the Chinaman's laundry went to the place and failed to arouse the proprietor. She summoned a policeman, who forced his way into the shop. The Chinaman's blood-stained body lay on the floor near his bunk. The chairs and fixtures in the place had been tossed around, his chests and trunk forced open and the place thoroughly ransacked, which leads the police to believe that the motive of the crime was robbery. The colored woman who first summoned the police and a colored man were arrested on suspicion, but no light has been thrown on the mystery.

BIG BATTLESHIP LAUNCHED TODAY

North Dakota Takes Water at Quincy, Mass.

FIRST SHIP OF ITS CLASS

Vessel When Completed Will Be America's Pioneer All-big-gun Dreadnought — Crowd at Ceremony Includes Governor of State After Which Ship Is Named—Miss Mary L. Benton, of Fargo, N. D., the Warship's Sponsor.

Quincy, Mass., Nov. 10.—Amid the shrieking of steam whistles, the flapping of flags and the cheers of a crowd of invited guests and shipyard officials and employes, the new battleship North Dakota slid off the ways here at noon today.

As the great vessel quivered before taking her first plunge into the water Miss Mary L. Benton, of Fargo, N. D., native daughter of the state from which the battleship takes her name, broke over her bow a bottle of champagne, declaring as she did so, "I name thee North Dakota."

JOHN BURKE.

Among the invited guests who witnessed the launching of the battleship was John Burke, the newly-elected governor of North Dakota.

The launching of the North Dakota means the introduction of a new type of warship in the American navy. She will be the first American all-big-gun battleship or real Dreadnought to fly the Stars and Stripes.

The North Dakota, which is similar in all respects to the Delaware, which is under construction at Newport News, Va., will have a long forecastle deck extending from the bow almost to the center of the ship. The ten twelve-inch guns are arranged in five turrets, two to a turret, the forward turret being so located that the axis of its guns are twenty-four feet above the water line, and just abaft this turret is another, the barbette of which is of sufficient height for its guns to clear the roof of the forward turret.

Abaft the break of the forecastle deck and also situated on the axis of the ship are two more twelve-inch gun turrets, the guns of the forward turret in this pair firing over the roof of the after turret. Abaft and near the stern is the fifth and last of the big turrets. Naval men declare that no navy in the world possesses a ship of the Dreadnought type in which the guns are better arranged.

MARY L. BENTON.

For repelling torpedo attack the North Dakota will carry a secondary batery of fourteen five-inch guns. These guns are all mounted broadside. The vessel will be driven by turbines and is expected to attain a maximum speed in excess of twenty-one knots an hour.

Deevers was injured in a wreck some time ago, and had been visiting his father at Hiora, Preston county. Near the coke ovens at that place his clothing was found, with a note explaining his suicide. The letter follows:

"I have been wondering, and I can't get nothing else into my head. Gentlemen, I am in debt, and can't work, and I don't know what else to do but put myself out of the way. I have been studying ever since I got hurt, and I have been wondering and studying and studying, and I can't get nothing else in my head. So I will bring it to a close, and here you will find my remains."

CONFESSED MURDER

Wife's Lover Killed Her Husband With An Axe.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 3.—After confessing their guilt to the police, John Kurka, a teamster, and Mrs. Anthony Schultz were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Gerhard in Hamtramck township and pleaded guilty to the charge of murdering Mrs. Schultz's husband, who was a half-brother of Kurka. The latter said that the crime was attributable to an illicit affection between himself and his half-brother's wife. Kurka had been living in the home of the Schultz couple.

According to the two confessions, the police say Schultz was murdered in his bed about 3.30 o'clock in the morning a week ago, the wife in another room being able to hear the fatal blow of the axe each time it fell. She then was called into the room and lifted the feet of the dead man as Kurka lifted the shoulders while they carried the body to the Green dump wagon, in which Kurka took it from the extreme northeastern limits of the city down through Detroit's business section, seven miles, to the secluded lane in the western suburbs, where it was later found hidden under a pile of straw.
